WEATHER

Partly cloudy, windy and cool is forecast today with the high temperature reading in the high 40's or low 50's.

DREW PEARSON

Force and violence exercised by the Negro minority in the U.S. could lead to the revival of the Klu Klux Klan.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

Variable cloudy skies and cooler temperatures are expected today with a few light showers and possibly some snow flurries ending by late afternoon. The high temperature reading is expected to be in the upper 40's with the overnight low about 35. The outlook Friday suggests mostly sunny skies and warmer temperatures. Wednesday's 7 a.m. report: high 62; low 37; there was .08 inches of precipitation recorded. The river level was 2.2 feet and steady.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1320.35 feet (desired summer pool level 1328 feet; maximum 1365 feet). Outflow temperature 45 degrees. Upper reservoir 51 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 2.19 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

Mrs. Frances Ramsey, Warren County Historical Society archivist, was honored this week by directors of the society at a testimonial dinner.

PENNSYLVANIA

Gov. Shafer says he still plans to lead an uncommitted delegation to the Republican National Convention despite the impressive showing of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Pennsylvania presidential preference primary.

House Republicans have retained political control of the chamber for the balance of 1968 with the task for the GOP leadership now one of making the slim majority work on major party issues.

Twenty-four incumbents and three state senators hoping to advance their political positions have won spots in the November general election contests for Pennsylvania's 27 congressional seats.

Pennsylvania's voters, who otherwise displayed widespread apathy toward the primary election, overwhelmingly approved Tuesday five proposals designed to modernize the state's Constitution.

Rep. John Dent, who lost the Democratic nomination for the Senate to U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, predicts Clark won't be re-elected.

Backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy expressed surprise at the size of his vote in Pennsylvania's presidential primary. But McCarthy, the only candidate on the ballot, apparently won only a handful of state's 130 Democratic convention votes.

The Federation of Telephone Workers went on strike at midnight Wednesday against the Bell Telephone Co. in a contract dispute.

THE NATION

Protest mushrooms against proposed underground H-bomb test in Nevada, billed as most powerful explosion ever set off in the United States.

In his first speech to an outright political gathering since he renounced any intention of seeking another term, Johnson pledges to devote all his days and powers to winning the peace.

The authority of the only independent government watchdog over defense profits expires in two months and the congressional committee involved has suspended work on an extension bill.

The U.S. sends another message to Hanoi in the continuing wrangle over where to talk about talking about peace. No progress reported.

The Senate Judiciary Committee approves a ban on interstate mail order sales of handguns, part of a broad anticrime bill.

Banker David Rockefeller urges a prompt income tax increase, charging that the financial crisis has been shoved too low on the scale of national priorities.

THE WORLD

Stepped up allied operations in the Mekong Delta have killed nearly 2,000 enemy in six weeks.

Only half of the 88 invited delegations show up for the opening of the Soviet-engineered Communist unity conference.

SPORTS

In area track, Corry defeated Youngsville. This afternoon the Warren Dragons will play host to Meadville at 4 p.m.

The Warren Beverage Baseball Team is looking forward to another good season in 1968. The team will present a blend of the old and new. Emmons Jones, team sponsor, says he is looking for three more players to fill out the team.

Rain and cold curtailed the major league baseball schedule. Six games were played, with at least two shutouts at press time.

The Detroit Tigers saw their nine-game winning streak come to an end, losing to Cleveland, 2-0. Detroit's Willie Horton was injured in a collision, and reportedly suffered a concussion.

Series of Sharp Engagements Reported in Saigon Area

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen killed 33 North Vietnamese soldiers in one of a series of scattered, sharp engagements in the countryside 20 to 40 miles from Saigon, the U.S. Command reported Thursday.

The four-hour battle 30 miles northeast of the capital was Wednesday's heaviest reported ground action. Members of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade, supported by tactical air strikes and helicopter gunships, listed their losses as eight killed, 33 wounded.

To the north, attention focused on the enemy's A Shau Valley strongholds. South Vietnamese forces reported destroying 10 enemy supply trucks moving east from the valley toward Hue. U.S. B52 bombers kept up their pounding of the valley in what could be a prelude to a big allied invasion.

The curtailed bombing campaign against North Vietnam was confined again Wednesday to south of the 19th parallel. Principal targets were bridges, trucks and truck parks in the southern panhandle.

In the Mekong Delta, intensive allied operations have cost the enemy 1,943 dead in the past six weeks and flushed newly equipped North Vietnamese regulars, U.S. officers reported Wednesday.

Proposed Nuclear Blast Draws Shock Waves

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The mightiest nuclear blast to be fired in the United States is set for Friday, and the federal government is feeling shock waves in advance.

Protests against possible danger or damage have come from citizens, scientists, labor leaders, peace groups and from the organization of Nevada's biggest spender, billionaire Howard Hughes.

The test of a hydrogen device will pack the wallop of one million tons of TNT or more and is expected to be felt, earthquake style, for 250 miles or more. A test last January rated at a little less than a million tons rocked buildings in San Francisco and Salt Lake City and residents of the Northern California coastal town of Eureka, 700 miles distance, said they felt it.

It cracked pavement on bridges 12 miles away, but caused no serious damage. Its purpose was to determine if even larger tests could be safely staged.

The Atomic Energy Commission says no damage is expected from Friday's test. It is set for 6 a.m. in a chamber 3,800 feet under Pahute Mesa at the Nevada Test Site 100 miles northwest.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's office in Washington confirmed receipt of letters of concern from Nevada residents.

person resides.

The present firearms act, enacted in 1938, has a similar prohibition. The new bill is designed to make it more enforceable.

Another provision intended to implement state and local firearms controls would make it unlawful for a licensed dealer to deliver any firearm to a person with reasonable cause to believe its receipt or possession would be in violation of state or local law.

Under another provision, a person who shipped, transported or received a firearm in interstate commerce with intent to commit a felony would be subject to a $10,000 fine and 10-year imprisonment.

As under present law, mail order sales of firearms or ammunition to fugitives, felons and persons under indictment for certain crimes would be prohibited. The bill goes a step further by applying this ban also to over-the-counter sales.

Government Watchdog May Go Out of Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The authority of the Renegotiation Board as the only independent government watchdog over defense and space contract profits will expire in 67 days unless it is renewed by Congress. And the House committee charged with producing a bill to continue the board has indefinitely suspended work on it.

A spokesman for the House Ways and Means Committee said Wednesday that "preliminary work on a bill has been completed but the proceedings have been laid aside while the committee works on the President's request for an income tax surcharge."

No date has been set for resumption of work on the Renegotiation Board, the spokesman said.

The law covering the board expires June 30. Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., is leading a fight to have the board renewed and strengthened. At present, it is a temporary agency. Gonzalez wants to make it permanent and expand its powers to force defense and space contractors to return excess profits to the government.

He has received support in the Senate from Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Richard Kaufman, an economist with Proxmire's Joint Economic Committee, said it seemed likely that the Ways and Means Committee would report on a bill which, at least, extended the board for another two years.

"But," he said, "delay creates a crisis, an emergency situation. The practical effect is that when it finally comes out of the House, the Senate will have to accept it no matter what it looks like, even if it does no more than provide a status quo."

"If the board is not extended, it would be the first wartime in our history where there was no control over profiteering," Gonzalez said.

Johnson Pledges All-Out Effort To Win Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday night that national parties and politics must never be allowed to divide and divert the nation from the American goal.

He coupled this with a pledge to devote all his days and powers to winning the peace.

Johnson flew from Washington to Chicago for his first speech to an outright political gathering since he renounced any intention of seeking another term in the White House.

In effect, he was picking up a theme he developed in his address to the nation March 31 when he announced a new move for peace talks and said he would not seek nor accept renomination for the presidency.

At that time, he said he did not believe that "I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office—the presidency of your country."

In Chicago, Johnson kept a commitment with Mayor Richard J. Daley and showed up to address a $100-a-plate fundraising dinner of the Cook County Democratic Organization.

The prepared text offered nothing in the way of a rousing political speech along the lines Johnson would have employed in the past for such an occasion.

With a reference to war and peace, he said that:

"There are mothers and fathers in every land—and I am one of those fathers—who despise war as their children despise it. I will devote all my days, all my powers and all my energies to winning the peace that is the prayer of every American family."

With reference to divorcing politics from the march toward common national goals, the President said: "The progress of America is the achievement of a nation unified. Not a nation in lockstep, not a nation where all men must think alike, act alike or vote alike—but a nation in which the labors and the talents of the people make common cause toward common goals."

Johnson added: "Our parties and politics must ever serve this purpose. They must never be permitted to divide and divert us from the goal of one America."

The President, who has announced that he will not seek re-election, said that politics today is changed and changing, issues are new, alignments are new, styles are new, and slogans are new.

And all this is good, he said, "for it reflects and serves the changes that are being wrought by America's own advance."

He added "but the purpose of our politics is not changed and it must not change—for it is to serve the unity of all our people."

The President said that not as partisans "not as Democrats, not as Republicans, but only and always as Americans let us look to the good that has been wrought."

"Let us look to the victories that have been won for the people," he said. "Let us look to the advances we have made together in unity and understanding and let us, too, take courage—to renew, and sustain, that battle which our fathers began."

US Makes Another Effort To Find Peace Talk Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has sent another message to North Vietnam in the still-unsuccessful effort to achieve agreement on a site for preliminary peace talks, the State Department disclosed Wednesday.

It was understood that the new U.S. message went to Hanoi Monday and amounted to a diplomatic prod to the Reds to respond to earlier U.S. offers of any of its list of 15 Asian and European capitals as a meeting place.

It was the fifth such communication from Washington to Hanoi announced since the opposing sides publicly declared three weeks ago their willingness to enter into direct talks. Since then they have been sparring over where their envoys should meet.

In revealing the latest American message, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey added: "I could not report progress" towards accord on a site.

Other U.S. authorities said no official message has been received since the second from Hanoi on the subject, dated April 11. That proposed Warsaw as a meeting location. The first North Vietnamese offer, on April 8, suggested Phnom Penh.

The United States has objected to both Warsaw and Phnom Penh on various grounds. It wants the talks to be held in a neutral country where there are adequate communications and the parties involved in the Vietnam conflict have diplomatic accreditation.

The State Department spokesman's remarks appeared to be a follow-up to President Johnson's statement at a diplomatic reception Tuesday—not further explained at the time—that the United States had been in touch with Hanoi again. The message was reportedly routed through Vientiane, the Laotian capital where both sides have embassies.

Asian diplomatic sources see Paris as the likeliest spot for the two sides to agree on.

Red Unity Conference Has Only 50% Present

BUDAPEST (AP) — A preparatory unity conference of Communist parties opened Wednesday in a sealed-off hotel with barely half the 88 delegations invited showing up. Many of the absentees said the meeting's only purpose was to entrench Soviet dominance over the world's Marxist parties.

The stay at homes—49 by official count—included Red China and Albania, critics of the Soviet Union from the far left, and Yugoslavia and Romania, both to the right of Moscow. Cuba was reported missing as were North Vietnam, North Korea and other Asian parties.

The 10 or 12 days of scheduled discussions are to decide on an exact date in November or December for a conference in Moscow to "promote the cohesion of all anti-imperialistic forces," and according to Yugoslav reports, draft a document on Vietnam and a peace appeal.

For Yugoslav, Romanian and

Chinese Communists this means a formal reassertion of the Soviet party's "leading role" in world communism.

The only group attending the current meeting likely to challenge this position is Czechoslovakia, its delegation was reportedly instructed to walk out if criticized by antibell elements.

The Czechoslovak attitude was summarized in an editorial Wednesday in Pravda, the newspaper of the Slovak Communist party in Czechoslovakia. It said a world conference would succeed only if it deepens "more consistently the process of democratization which is to be understood as respect for the principle of the quality of parties, noninterference and a possibility to present one's views."

The last big party meeting in Budapest, Feb. 26-March 5, was the stage for a Romanian walk-out and open break with Moscow. Sixty parties were in attendance at that session.

Federation of Telephone Workers Went On Strike at Midnight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Federation of Telephone Workers went on strike at midnight Wednesday against the Bell Telephone Co. in a contract dispute.

The FTWP, which represents 13,000 plant, accounting and service department employees across the state, and Bell representatives had been bargaining on a wage reopener clause. But negotiations broke off earlier in the day.

"This strike call confirms our suspicion that the union has never really been interested in working toward a realistic agreement," W. W. Kinkel, Bell's chief of negotiations, said. In announcing the action, president I. C. Glendinning said the union "waited patiently all day for a response from the company in respect to our last proposal. We've received no answer."

The union's last demand was an across-the-board wage increase of 14.2 per cent. The company said its counter-offer of 7 per cent would cost it more than $7 million a year.

It also said its offer matches the best proposal made by 14 other companies in the Bell system now negotiating wage increases. The best offer was $12 a week in the top craft (switchman) in the highest wage zone.

"Our proposal matches all others in that respect," said Kinkel. Kinkel declined to be more specific, but a Bell spokesman said the $7 million figure includes fringe benefits as well as wages. Glendinning said, however, that union demands had been packaged into just a salary boost with no fringe benefits.

The company and union negotiators met late Tuesday night in the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service here.

The bargaining is concerned with a wage-reopener clause at the midpoint of a three-year contract negotiated in October, 1966.

The FTWP workers have been off their jobs, honoring picket lines, since last Thursday, when the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, began a strike against Western Electric Co., a Bell subsidiary. The CWA strike involves some 200,000 workers in about 40 states.

PICKETS ARRIVE AT MIDNIGHT

At midnight Wednesday night this car with two members of the Federation of Telephone Workers appeared at the East street plant of the local Bell Telephone company, marking the second time since May of 1967 that pickets have appeared at the local plant. At the garage on Allegheny ave., the scene was the same. The FTWP union representing 13,000 plant accounting and service departments walked off their jobs at midnight and picket lines were set up around the plant. Supervisory officials at Bell said they expect the picket line will be honored by all local employees, however, Bell's supervisory team and some of the non-management employees will do their best to keep telephone service operational.

Next Saturn 5 Flight Could Be Manned Mission

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Space Agency said Wednesday that the Saturn 5's troubles in the April 4 launch have been tracked down, can be corrected and this may mean the next Saturn 5 flight late this year may be a manned mission.

This in turn could give great promise of a landing on the moon by the middle of next year.

After the Saturn 5 Apollo mission earlier this month ran into trouble, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials feared that another Saturn 5 unmanned flight might be necessary.

This would delay the first manned mission with the giant Saturn booster until next year.

At a two-hour briefing for newsmen on the April 4 second Saturn 5 mission, Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, director of the Apollo program office, disclosed that:

—One of the five engines of the Saturn second stage—the No. 2 engine—closed down prematurely apparently because of leakage of liquid hydrogen at 400 degrees below zero, from a ruptured flexible joint, caused the freezing of hydraulic fluids.

—Another second-stage engine, No. 3, cut off because, through engineering error, electrical wires had been crossed.

—The third-stage engine failed to restart in orbit because hydraulic oil in a fuel pump froze under the tremendous cooling effect of leaking hydrogen.

—The propellant-like break was the result of a "pogo" or vibration problem, previously encountered in the Titan II Gemini vehicle, which caused oscillation beyond the design limits of the Saturn rocket. This problem was solved in the Titan Gemini program and can similarly be corrected for Saturn, Phillips said.

—A piece of the Saturn exterior or near the booster's upper end, at the lunar-module adapter section, broke away 2 minutes and 13 seconds after launch. Three to 4 feet wide and 4 to 6 feet long, it may have been a section of the rocket's thick paint. It could not have been a major structural collapse, which did not occur.

Phillips said he and his staff have concluded that the difficulties can be corrected, and had recommended to NASA administrator James E. Webb that preparations proceed for a manned flight of the third Saturn in the latter part of this year.

17 Complete Red Cross First Aid Course

Seventeen Warren County persons on Monday successfully completed the American Red Cross Standard First Aid Course.

Sessions were presented at Pittsfield Elementary School and were sponsored by the school's PTA.

The course consisted of seven two-hour classes of instruction under Cpl. George J. Barron of the Pennsylvania State Police Warren substation. Subjects covered were basic rules of first aid, wounds, shock, artificial respiration, fractures, ill effects of heat and cold, poisoning by mouth, common emergencies, transportation of the ill or injured, along with actual class practice of bandaging, application of splints to broken bones and movement of injured and sick persons.

The following will receive ARC standard first aid certificates: Wilbur W. Augenstein, 614 High st., Youngsville; Mrs. Gloria J. Baker, RD 1, Pittsfield; Mrs. Janet H. Barnes, RD 1, Pittsfield; Mrs. Beverly O. Chamberlin, RD 1, Pittsfield; Mrs. Susan A. Fehlman, Pittsfield; Mrs. Betty K. Ingols, 45 Sixth ave., Youngsville.

Vanderhoof, Garland; Mrs. Joanne G. Vanderhoof, RD 1, Pittsfield; Norman B. Whitely, RD 1, Pittsfield and Mrs. Anna Mae Wolbert, Pittsfield.

Cpl. Barron on Monday was notified of his promotion to the rank of sergeant and reports April 29 to Troop E-1 Headquarters in Erie.

Chautauqua Co. Treasurer Says Tax Returns Are Low

MAYVILLE, N.Y. — Chautauqua County Treasurer Robert H. Miller said Wednesday the county, towns and cities have returned only 5.7 per cent of their $8,352,000 tax warrant for 1968. Miller noted the cities of Jamestown and Dunkirk which pay in the vicinity of 50 per cent of all county taxes, always pay their warrants in full and again this year will be credited with a 100 per cent return when the money is received in Mayville. However, he added, the less than 6 per cent received so far is the lowest rate of return ever experienced in the 18 years Miller has served as county treasurer.

"I feel," he said, "the present return reflects the current status of the economy." The county treasurer credited tax collectors with an excellent job in years past and commended their work. Of the $8.3 million due, less than $474,000 has been collected. If taxes are not received in the county treasurers' office by November the legal department of the county government then takes the first step toward the tax sale of the properties involved.

Jamestown owes $768,609 while the city of Dunkirk owes $1,329,000. The Dunkirk amount is larger because Jamestown operates its own social services (Welfare Dept.) Welfare programs in Dunkirk are operated through the county social services department. Miller said Jamestown customarily sends a check for the entire amount in May and the city then collects a similar amount from its residents.

Aftermath Of A Tornado

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Archaeologist Stanley Lantz, right, Pleasant Township, was the keynote speaker at the Warren Kiwanis luncheon meeting Wednesday. Lantz, introduced by Ken Morrison, program chairman, discussed in general the culture of the Iroquois Indian dating back to 1325 A.D. and in particular archeological diggings he has made of an Indian village near the Onondaga bridge. The diggings Lantz discussed, and the slide program presented was part of a project undertaken by Lantz prior to the construction of the Kinzua Dam in 1965. Fifty five members and guests were in attendance for the program.

State Archaeology Society Will Meet at Easton Sat.

Field work in the Pennsylvania diggings for evidence of historic and ancient man will take a holiday April 27 as some 200 members of The Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology gather at Easton for the group's 39th annual meeting. They will represent the 750 membership of the State Society's 15 area chapters.

Attending from this area will be: Stanley Lantz and John Zavinski, members of the Kinzua Chapter No. 18 Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology.

Host will be Forks of the Delaware Chapter of Easton. They day will open at 8 a.m. with registration in Olin Auditorium of Lafayette College and the meeting begins with the annual business session at 9 a.m., followed by presentation of eight papers. Concluding the assembly will be the evening dinner in the Easton Motor Hotel main dining room with an address on "New York Iroquois Archaeology: Some Problems and Some Answers," by Dr. Marian E. White, Associate Professor of Anthropology, State University of New York at Buffalo. Dr. White's subject illustrates the archaeological insignificance of modern political divisions for as some 35 sites, more affectionately called "the digs," are explored by the society's mostly spare-time enthusiasts they find evidence of a multiplicity of cultures which extend through tens of thousands of years.

The session will be open to all those seriously interested in the study of the past and all students will be exempt from the registration fee.

Officers of the Society are Jacob L. Grimm, Ligonier, president; Henry Heisey, Washington Boro, and Melville W. Corl, Altoona, vice presidents; Mrs. Vivian Marshall, Salem O., secretary, and Donald P. Tanner, Pittsburgh, treasurer.

Morning papers will be given by Barry Kent, State Archaeologist, Harrisburg; Dr. Arthur Montgomery, Lafayette College; Herbert C. Kraft, South Orange, N.J., museum director; and Elmer T. Erb, host chapter vice president. Afternoon papers: Elinor R. Fehr, host chapter president; John Witt, University of Pennsylvania; Vincent P. Foley, archaeological research director, Historic Bethlehem, Inc.

McCarthy's Showing in State May Not Win Delegate Support

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy cheered his showing Wednesday in Pennsylvania's primary, but he can count on only a handful of the state's 130 Democratic convention votes.

McCarthy's name was the only one on Tuesday's primary ballot, and he far outdistanced write-in candidates.

"As a result of the preferential primary, it's fairly obvious he is a great favorite and a great vote getter," said Michael R. Mallin, chairman of the Pennsylvania McCarthy for President organization.

McCarthy, D-Minn., later said in Wabash, Ind., that his showing in Pennsylvania Tuesday was a "kind of endorsement" of his candidacy.

"We have just begun to fight here," he said as he arrived for a speech-making tour of Indiana.

In the voting, McCarthy's totals were 7-1 over the write-in votes for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, a Democrat from New York, and 10-1 over Vice President Hubert Humphrey. On the Republican side, former Vice President Richard Nixon forged a 3-1 write-in lead over New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Only McCarthy and Kennedy campaigned at all in Pennsylvania, the nation's third largest state. Because the votes for candidates in the Pennsylvania primary are not binding on convention delegates, few delegates campaigned as supporters of any one man.

Mallin, claiming outright 15 delegate votes for McCarthy at Chicago, said contests involving about seven possible McCarthy votes were still undecided. On the basis of McCarthy's showing Tuesday, Mallin said, he hoped to persuade some other Pennsylvania Democratic delegates to back his man, State Democratic headquarters in Harrisburg was compiling a list of delegates. Kennedy backers claimed no delegate votes, saying they had not campaigned for any.

Pennsylvania voters also approved five constitutional amendment questions. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, a Democrat seeking his third term, won renomination over U.S. Rep. John Dent, Dent was a winner, however, in his nomination for a seventh House term. State law allows candidates to seek more than one office in a primary election.

Republican voters nominated U.S. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, who was unopposed, to oppose Clark next November.

Pennsylvania Democrats send 162 delegates to the Chicago convention and they cast a total of 130 votes. Pennsylvania Republicans have 64 votes at their Miami Beach convention.

The bulk of both delegations is now largely uncommitted. With 7,991 of 9,480 precincts reporting, McCarthy had 340,692, Kennedy 44,304, Humphrey 33,819, President Johnson 13,962, and former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama 10,656.

McCarthy backers had said they expected their candidate to poll about 200,000 votes.

On the Republican side, with 7,413 precincts reporting, Nixon had 112,145, Rockefeller 34,228,

Election At A Glance

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Here are the highlight results of Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary election:

President—Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the only candidate on the ballot, captured upwards of 340,000 votes on the Democratic side while former Vice President Richard M. Nixon led Republican write-in tabulations with 112,000.

Senate—U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark was renominated to a third term by his Democratic party despite a contest with U.S. Rep. John H. Dent of Westmoreland County. Clark led by some 55,000 votes, with 300 of 9,460 precincts not reporting.

Statewide—In the only other statewide primary contest, Auditor Gen. Grace M. Sloan was an overwhelming Democratic winner over Mrs. June Reynolds of Pittsburgh.

Constitution—All five constitutional questions proposed by the Constitutional Convention were adopted handily in a referendum. The question victories ranged from 439,915 for legislative apportionment to 106,939 on taxation.

Legislature—House Republicans regained working control of the chamber through the remainder of 1968 by splitting six special elections with the Democrats, boosting their strength to 104, two more than the constitutional majority. In the regular primary balloting for nominations to new two-year terms, three Republican incumbents and one Democrat were defeated on the basis of unofficial returns.

Congress—All 24 of the states 27 congressmen who sought renomination were victorious. Three veterans retired and were replaced on the ballot by three state senators.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California 4,698, Wallace 5,180, Johnson 1,376 and Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania 806. Shafer has said he wants to go to the convention as a favorite son presidential candidate to unify his party's delegation.

At a news conference Wednesday, Shafer acknowledged McCarthy's popularity but said, "I don't know that his showing was particularly significant in Pennsylvania since his was the only name on the ballot."

Shafer hailed approval of the constitutional questions dealing with finance and taxation, local government, judiciary and reapportionment.

"The vote was an act of courage by the people in finally overcoming the scare tactics of selfish interests that were used so effectively for decades to stop constitutional reform," he said.

In the Senate confrontation, with 9,234 precincts in, Clark polled 442,095 to Dent's 384,300.

After Dent conceded Wednesday morning, Clark expressed thanks to the voters and congratulated Dent on a hard campaign. "I am going to need his help and the help of his supporters in the fall," said Clark.

In Washington, Sen. Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania's Republican senator, said Clark's close decision bodes well for the GOP. "I feel certain many of the people who voted against Sen. Clark will do so again in November," Scott said. Schweiker was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In the only other statewide primary contest, Auditor Gen. Grace M. Sloan was an overwhelming Democratic winner over Mrs. June Reynolds of Pittsburgh in the race for state treasurer.

Republicans regained working control of the state House of Representatives for the rest of 1968 by splitting with the Democrats six special elections to fill vacant seats. It gave the GOP 104 seats, two more than the constitutional majority.

All 24 of the state's 27 congressmen who were seeking reelection were renominated. They included Dent, who ran for both the Democratic Senate nomination and for his present seat.

Man Wanted for Theft Here Is Apprehended in Erie

A man wanted by borough police in connection with the theft on April 12 of a portable television set from a room at the Exchange Hotel was apprehended in Erie Tuesday and returned to Warren County for arraignment Wednesday.

The incident was reported after the room occupied by Mrs. Mabel Schwitzer was forcibly entered and the TV set taken. Several witnesses were located by police who had seen a man with a wrapped package leaving the hotel, getting into a cab and leaving town. His identity was determined and a warrant issued.

Upon learning the suspect was in Erie, Police Chief Michael Evan and Sgt. Edward Peterson, with two Erie detectives, picked up Samuel Levi Bromley, 21, YMCA, Erie.

Bromley was also charged with burglary by Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty and confined to county jail in lieu of bond.

He is accused, Hegerty said, of entering the home of Mrs.

Elizabeth DeChene, RDI, Clarendon (Griff Hill) on March 26 between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., when a stamp collection, a Remington double barreled shotgun, a Marlin rifle and about $5 in currency were taken. The burglary charge, Hegerty stated, was filed before Peace Justice Fred Berry.

While in Erie Tuesday, Chief Evan testified before a grand jury, which indicted Robert E. Brightman, 396 Lake Shore dr., East Dunkirk, N.Y., on a charge of armed robbery. The charge stemmed from the daylight robbery of $1,877 from Commodore-Perry Finance Co. of Erie on Jan. 18, 1966. The robber reportedly used a revolver.

Brightman was the same man who in February of 1966 attempted an armed holdup in Warren at Try-M Finance Company for which he had been serving time until his parole. The local try was unsuccessful since the manager of the Warren finance company had not as yet been to the bank to secure funds for that day's business.

Tin Can Crusade

Over the past weekend the Kinzua Campers directed the efforts of their membership, including both youngsters and adults, to cleaning up the campground at Buckaloons. As a result, two truckloads of debris, consisting mostly of cans and bottles, were gathered and transported to a dump by employees of the Forest Service.

Last year the same organization "plucked" two more truckloads of debris from the roadside on Route 59 between Warren and the Kinzua Dam.

In both cases, it was hard to believe that so much trash could be accumulated from such small areas. And in both cases it led one to wonder if the public could be taught that a beer can thrown here and a pop bottle thrown there adds up to our worst littering problem.

What would be the result if the dedicated efforts of this single organization could be increased tenfold --- twentyfold? And what impression would it make on the public if all of the trash collected on a countywide basis could be brought to a central point where the public could view its ugly bulk and be impressed by the immensity of the problem.

With full cooperation from Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H clubs, church groups and similar organizations such a Tin Can Crusade could be organized. And through the successful conduct of such a campaign a public awareness could be generated that should do some good.

At least the trash that is presently littered along our highways, defiling our woodlands and recreation areas, would eventually end up where it should be --- in a supervised garbage dump.

Riot Control -- Part II

(Riot Control -- Part 2)

HARRISBURG — Here is another unknown phase of Pennsylvania's civil disturbance "battle plan" few realize even exists — but is regarded as critical, as proved in the Pittsburgh racial disturbance.

As any newsman will tell you, the toughest stories to cover are those involving natural disasters and civil disturbances. The problem is one of obtaining reliable information from those involved in such an emergency. These emergencies are handled by law enforcement and government agencies but they have set as their primary function the alleviating of the disaster or controlling the civil disturbance. Communication with the news media — which in the end means people themselves — usually is one of the last thought of items in their operational planning.

This was certainly not true in the case of the disturbances in Pittsburgh. As I said in my previous column, the State Police have the capability and the planning to respond instantly and successfully to such an emergency in any sector of the Commonwealth. Their plans also included the setting up of a full time public information operation at Command Post No. One in the Public Safety Building in Pittsburgh.

All of their on-the-spot studies of disturbances in other states showed where command personnel did not have coordinated communication link to the public through the news media the number of rumors increased in both number and falsity. Policy statements to the newsman weren't coordinated. News personnel had no positive way of obtaining reliable facts. News oftimes was confusing; the populace became confused.

Last April, the State Police hired Bill Lindeberg, a civilian, as their Public Information Officer. For the four years under the Scranton Administration he held a similar position with the Department of Revenue. He has 18 years of experience in public relations and advertising.

One of the first assignments given Mr. Lindeberg by Colonel McKetta, Commissioner of the State Police, was to set up a Public Information program to be included in the State Police operational plans for any civil disturbance or natural disaster in any part of the state.

Last summer PLO Lindeberg went to Pittsburgh and working with the city police it was arranged that two telephone lines would be immediately installed at a special desk for his use if the State Police were called into the city.

This information desk would operate 24 hours a day. But Mr. Lindeberg, as one man, couldn't do that over a five or six day period. He went to Jack Conmy, the Governor's Public Relations Secretary, who said that in case of emergency he would assign public information men from the various State Government departments to report to any Command Post and work under the direction of the State Police.

This system was further refined prior to the Pittsburgh incident when six teams of public information men were set up and each team was assigned one of the six State Police Area Commands.

The Pittsburgh team for Area Command Five has Paul Zdzien, Justice Department as Team Leader; Robert Hetherington, and Matt Mathews, Highways; Dave Bramson, Public Utility Commission, and Charles Downey, General State Authority.

When the Governor ordered the State Police into Pittsburgh, Mr. Lindeberg got on the phone to get the team together. Two men were unavailable and came out later. The Lindeberg team flew into Pittsburgh and 30 minutes after reaching the Command Post their phones were operational and an Editors Note went out over the wire services informing all media that information on conditions in Pittsburgh could be obtained by calling two special numbers not known to anyone else.

Later, because of previous commitments by some of the team members, Jack Conmy assigned relief men to the operation. They were Bill Danneberg, Internal Affairs; John Baer, Welfare, and George Shelley, Revenue.

The information desk personnel coordinated their activity with the Pittsburgh Police, the National Guard, County Commissioners, Fire Department and John Tabor, acting Secretary of Labor and Industry, and Governor Shafer's personal representative in Pittsburgh.

The desk was operational for 113 hours and averaged over 200 outgoing and incoming phone calls every 24 hours! They set up press conferences, briefings and even called local media throughout the state notifying them when National Guard Troops would be leaving Pittsburgh enroute to their home base.

The public information desk checked out rumors for the newsman and constantly supplied them with current information on incidents, arrests and fires.

Perhaps most importantly, at no time did the Command Personnel have to take valuable time away from their primary functions to supply newsman with minor information.

Again pre-planning paid off. Reports from newsmen in Pittsburgh were completely complimentary on the plan; it's one that other states might well study!

RUSSELL BAKER

Scrumptious Sam & Bros.

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Men's fashions are now more exciting than women's. The Nehru jacket, the turtleneck shirt, thigh-gripper slacks, pastel pumps, beads, earrings, spit curls, bangs, paisley underwear, Pucci sweaters—all are now becoming everyday apparel for the middle-class male.

Men are rapidly discovering, however, what women used to take as a matter of course; namely, that while it is wonderful to be gorgeous, it can also be agonizing. As recently as last year men were still going to parties and dinners with nothing more to dread than the possibility that they would be dressed differently from all the other men in the room.

"Gosh," you apologized, if you arrived in a tuxedo and found all the other men in their blue pinstripes, white button-down collars and regimental stripes, "nobody told me not to dress." Nowadays all that is changed. On the night of the big party, the husband goes upstairs two hours beforehand to begin his final preparations. He has already spent the afternoon in the barber chair under a hot hairnet getting his bangs set. Now he must lave his pelt in rich creamy suds, treat it with powernu deodorant ("not recommended for women"), and splash cologne on his neck and wrists.

Out of the closet comes his new wardrobe. The price was outrageous, of course, and his wife will be furious if she finds out. When will women begin to understand about men's clothes?

After an endless wait by the wife, who keeps calling to ask if he is going to take all night to dress, he emerges in a stunning new saffron Nehru jacket, powder-blue turtleneck, mustard thigh-grippers and lime suede pumps. "How do I look?" he asks.

"You'll be the most beautiful man at the party," his wife says, and seizing him impulsively, gives him a warm kiss. "Careful," he says, "you'll crush my turtleneck."

Well, imagine the psychic agony of each of eight or ten men as they approach this party. Imagine the humiliation of this particular husband when he walks in and discovers another man wearing not only the very same power-blue turtleneck but also the same mustard thigh-grippers.

The other men, of course, remain discreet. They can afford to, because they are being devoured by feminine eyes and the compliments are coming fast. "I don't think you've ever looked more beautiful, Sam," says Cynthia. "That cologne you're wearing is bewitching, Pete," says Mary.

The women, of course, are merely being polite, and after flattering the husbands they will all congregate in one corner to talk about grocery prices and the school problem, while the men are left to themselves.

"I'm crazy about your beads, Leon. Are they Mexican or Hindu?" "I've found this really sensitive bracelet. Max, Phil recommended him to me," "Cromley & Swits has a really wow new line of batik ball-toms, Charley, but don't let your wife even guess at the prices."

At dinner the wives break their conversation about ponderous affairs to josh the men good-naturedly about being foils of the fashion czars. "Why do you men let a handful of tyrants on Seventh avenue make you throw out all your old wardrobes and buy new ones every six months?" they asked.

"Why are you women such slaves to dreary old convention?" the men retort. "Every generation, year in and year out, you all buy the same thing-dresses."

Having fulfilled the social obligation to notice the men, the wives revert to discussion of inflation, books and the war, leaving the men to trade rumors about the chances of cuffs rising another 2 inches and the likelihood of Brooks Brothers introducing nose rings next season.

At dinner's end, everyone rises. The men withdraw to the host's bedroom to freshen their cologne. The women retreat to the library to discuss taxes over brandy and cigars.

SYLVIA PORTER

What 'Crisis' Means

Since William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, made worldwide headlines last Friday with the warning that the U.S. is "in the midst, in my judgment, of the worst financial crisis since 1931," you have been urging me to "spell it out in our language. Why did he say it? What does 'financial crisis' mean?"

Porter

It was doubly extraordinary coming from Martin. Central bankers are traditionally men of reserve who deliver carefully prepared, cautious, heavily qualified speeches, and as our nation's leading central banker under four Presidents, Martin has usually followed the tradition. But Martin made this unqualified statement in an emotional, entirely off the cuff, hour-long speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, an astounding performance.

His objective was to shock the editors into realizing what is at stake and through them, to shock Congress into raising income taxes and curbing Federal spending. This is why he said it. This is what he meant by "financial crisis."

We are in danger of drowning our domestic budget and our balance of payments in a sea of red ink. Our deficits seem to be becoming perpetual and to worsen in boom times as well as in recessions. Without a tax increase, the deficit in the fiscal '68 budget is estimated at $20 billion and probably more. Without major improvement, the deficit in our balance of payments this year is shaping up at $3 billion and probably more.

The direct result of the domestic budget deficit is accelerating inflation. Wages are now rising at a rate of 6-9 per cent while productivity (efficiency per worker) is rising at around 3 per cent. Money is pouring into consumer hands, swelling demands for goods and services. These are the classic conditions for both types of inflation. Costs are pushing up prices; cost-push inflation. Demands are pulling up prices; demand-pull inflation. The cost of living is now climbing at an annual rate of 4 per cent, on top of a rise totaling around 6½ per cent in 1966-67. We are heading for runaway inflation.

The direct result of the deficit in our balance of payments is the flow of more dollars to qualified foreign creditors who can stage another run on our gold—and who will stage another run if they again lose confidence in our dollar. If another run develops, this time we may not be able to quiet it and this time, it could lead to worldwide devaluation of paper currencies, including the dollar. This would, says Martin, represent "the greatest financial setback this country has faced in my lifetime" and no one can foresee the outcome.

The Federal Reserve System is doing all it can to curb the feverish boom and hold funds in the U.S. through monetary policy. Interest rates are being forced up and up to historic peaks while credit is being steadily tightened. The new rise in the discount rate, basic borrowing rate of the nation, to 5½ per cent means that loans to business and individuals will become brutally tough and expensive to get. The danger is that housing will be sent into a tailspin again and that small businessmen, little people, cities and states will be unfairly hurt. What's more, admits Martin, credit curbs "cannot change a $20 billion deficit which is growing worse." Nevertheless, the Federal Reserve feels it must act.

Urgently needed are a tax increase and restraint on Federal spending to avoid financial disaster. In describing our twin deficits, Martin pulled no punches. He repeatedly called them "intolerable," and "deplorable," declared that unless we correct these deficits during the next several years, we face "either an uncontrollable recession or an uncontrollable inflation."

Increasing the urgency for action is the fact that "during the recent gold crisis, we promised (our foreign creditors) to put our affairs in order." Our creditors trusted us which is the reason they stopped turning their dollars into gold. Now they are watching us closely to see what we do.

This is the stuff of which a financial crisis is made; huge and growing deficits, dwindling confidence among creditors, the threat of a flight from the dollar and a rush to gold. This is why a normally unemotional central banker made an extraordinarily emotional statement in an extraordinarily emotional speech.

Riots Have Touchy Overtones

WASHINGTON—There are some ominous comparisons between the student riots in Berlin and the racial riots in the United States. Though the causes are not the same, the overtones are identical. They add up to the fact that when there is a breakdown in law and order it leads to a breakdown in government, eventually to revolution.

In the days of the Weimar Republic, during that period following Germany's defeat in World War I, there were burnings and violence by the Right directed against the Left. Such left-wing revolutionaries as Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht were killed, and Walter Rathenau, a moderate, was shot. Eventually violence became a way of life in Germany and led to the Nazi takeover.

Today the violence taking place in Germany is from the Left. Its origin, however, is not as important as the fact that a relatively small group of students is determined to make violence the order of the day, just as a small group of Negroes in the United States is making violence the order of the day.

In Hitler's day the Communist advocates of violence quickly became Nazi advocates of violence. It was a simple matter for the Communist party to merge into the Nazi party. Their principles of force and totalitarianism were the same.

Likewise in America, force and violence exercised by the Negro minority could lead to a revival of the Ku Klux Klan and fascist terrorism by members of the white majority.

Recently in Berlin more than 2,000 left-wing students have been rioting against the West German newspapers of Axel Springer on the trumped-up charge that the Springer newspapers inspired the attack on their leader Rudi Dutschke, a follower of Mao Tse Tung, who was shot by a Nazi sympathizer, Joseph Bachmann.

The Springer newspapers happen to be the backbone of a moderate, free-enterprise, democratic West Germany. Axel Springer, their publisher, has been a staunch defender of the Jews. In recognition of his championship of religious and racial tolerance, he was given an honorary degree by Brandeis University in Boston.

Die Welt, the New York Times of West Germany, was actually founded by the British Army in Hamburg, after the war, for the purpose of establishing a free, non-government-dominated press in occupied Germany. It has now developed into one of the most influential free enterprise newspapers in Europe.

Bild-Zeitung, another Springer publication, has the largest circulation—4,000,000 daily—on the European continent, surpassed in the world only by the circulation of Tokyo newspapers.

The Springer press has stuck to a democratic, nonviolent, pro-American editorial

Deterioration of McCarthy

It was a very bad weekend engaged in combat, nor was it inside Korean territorial waters. The precedent of America's ransom for the recovery of the Cuban soldiers we lost at the Bay of Pigs is once again irrelevant. The soldiers had fought against Cuba, were effectively under our control; and our military failure to protect them threw the burden for their relief on our rich if unsteady shoulders.

Then Senator McCarthy suggested that Senator Rusk resign. He was even so obliging as to designate his successor, Senator Mansfield. It is interesting to see a man who has so steadfastly in the past defended the prerogatives of the chief executive, forwarding advice to the President in tones that recall the premonitions with which Thaddeus Stevens used to address Andrew Johnson. The notion that Rusk's resignation is critical to the success of the negotiations with North Vietnamese is, of course, politicians' voodoo.

Senator McCarthy should be gently reminded that he has won neither the nomination, nor the election; and he might also be reminded that almost one half of those who voted for him in New Hampshire, did so believing him to be a hawkier than

Buckley

First is the call for paying ransom to the North Koreans in return for the crew of the Pueblo. That has a special appeal for Americans who like to think of the United States as a great big sprawling international bully who needs an occasional dose of pride-reducing. It is no less a dangerous suggestion to make because Professor McCarthy was able to cite a couple of precedents from Imperial Roman and English history. The Romans and the British, on the few occasions when they paid out ransom, were dealing with the repatriation of soldiers who had been taken in combat, or rescuing them from certain death. Our PROMISES, PROMISES . . .

That's what I'd do for a start! I don't really believe in Hawks, but Lyndon locked me in this thing, and . . . I would abolish all teen-agers under 25! I'm going to win, so I really don't have to make any promises. Put me down as "Don't know!"

policy. But left-wing students in Germany, taking censorship into their own hands, proceeded to gut the lower floor of the Springer skyscraper in West Berlin, tear editions of the newspapers to shreds, destroy five newspaper trucks, and for a time completely disrupt the delivery of newspapers. They also planted a red flag in the court of the 18-story Springer building which publisher Springer built alongside the Berlin wall as a token of his determination to unite the two Berlins.

The immediate spark which ignited Berlin was the attack on Red Rudi Dutschke, just as the spark which ignited racial rioting in Washington and other American cities was the death of Martin Luther King. But the real issue went deeper. Dutschke was a hater of the USA, had denounced the Vietnam war and burned the American flag. Springer had supported the United States.

The manner in which Negro students are emulating Berlin students in trying to suppress freedom of expression was illustrated not long ago at Swarthmore, the Quaker college outside Philadelphia which for one hundred years has kept its doors open to Negroes. It has also championed the right of dissent.

In exercising that right, it invited to its campus Edgar Brooks, a white South African who has advocated the end of racial barriers in his, the most racially segregated country in the world. Brooks's views on integration have been such a pain in the neck to his own government that South Africa was delighted when he went to the United States. When invited to Swarthmore, a small black power group of about ten Negroes objected. They claimed his views were too moderate, that change in South Africa must come not by legislation but by force. And they proposed using force in the form of noise to prevent Brooks from being heard.

The ten black power students constituted only one-fourth of the forty Negro students at Swarthmore, yet they demanded their way and were ready to use violence to achieve it. Finally, however, they were dissuaded.

On the day the South African speaker was to appear, however, and while he was sitting on the platform, a black power student jumped to the platform and announced, "All that you are about to hear is a lie." He then led a walk-out of four Negro students and some white sympathizers. Germany, with a new-found democracy in the 1920s, permitted violence and assassination to undermine that democracy. Its present leaders, including such men as Chancellor Kiesinger and publisher Springer, are determined that this shall not happen again.

In the United States, Negroes have just won some great victories in the form of new civil rights laws. What they need to remember is that if they themselves undermine law and order, they weaken the very laws which were passed to protect them.

Labor's Love Lost

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — When a group of young people had lunch the other day at the Washington headquarters of the AFL-CIO, one of them asked President George Meany why organized labor was opposed to the Presidential candidacy of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Meany seemed taken aback at first, and when he replied it was less with an explanation of his opposition than by demanding to know how anyone "could" support Kennedy. One who heard him said he was "surprised at the depth" of Meany's unyielding dislike.

That dislike is a major ingredient—although by no means the only one—in the important political fact that organized labor is behind Vice President Hubert Humphrey, not Bob Kennedy, in the struggle for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Meany is not alone among labor leaders in his attitude, although his rival, Walter Reuther of the automobile workers, is considered favorable to Kennedy. Reuther was badly-trapped when President Johnson's withdrawal precipitated Humphrey into the race. The UAW leader also has close ties to the vice president.

Labor opposition to Kennedy is often charged to his role, a decade ago, as staff director for the Senate committee that investigated labor racketeering. "Some of us thought he enjoyed his work too much," a labor official remarked drily when asked about this. But labor's anti-Kennedy sentiment has a much more specific base.

One strong reason for it is the generally hawkish foreign policy attitude of the major labor leaders, notably Meany—who is convinced that Kennedy's willingness to see a coalition government in Vietnam means that he has no understanding of what Meany believes is the basic nature of communism.

Kennedy and labor officials have differed sharply on legislation too. When he was attorney general, for instance, Kennedy was the sponsor of a bill that would have permitted courts to approve legal wiretapping to combat a long list of criminal activities. Labor has consistently opposed wiretapping except in national security cases, and a meeting between Kennedy and Meany on this issue was stormy. So was another at which Meany sought to get Attorney General Kennedy to drop a measure that would have provided legal immunity for employers if they would testify against union officials in bribery cases.

According to Kennedy sources Meany warned Kennedy not to get into this year's presidential campaign because he believed such opposition to President Johnson would split the Democratic party and result in a Republican Congress that would endanger labor's legislative objectives.

Thus, when Kennedy declared his candidacy and put in a call to Meany for support, the AFL-CIO president delayed taking the call. When he did accept it, he told Kennedy bluntly that he had just issued a statement urging Humphrey to run.

When Kennedy cited his own good voting record of labor support as a senator, Meany replied heatedly that labor supported the program of President Kennedy, which President Johnson had carried out, but that Robert Kennedy had worked against Johnson and helped undermine confidence in him.

Meany specifically cited the administration's housing bill, which he said labor had helped to shape and fully supported. Kennedy, he pointed out, had introduced his own housing bill, about which labor officials had not been consulted.

But labor leaders can't make the rank-and-file follow them blindly, and in the age of television, Kennedy can appeal to union members right over the heads of union leaders. Organized labor's influence on the choice of delegates to the Democratic national convention is not great, nor is it legally possible for the unions to pour vast sums into Humphrey's campaign.

Labor will be far more important in the fall campaign, when it can provide tremendous organizational support of the candidate of its choice. The nomination of Richard Nixon by the Republicans might bring that support grudgingly to Robert Kennedy; but the remarkable fact is that the opposition of both labor and business now leaves him nowhere to turn but to the voters.

Giap Acknowledges Defeat

LAI KHE, South Vietnam — Reluctant enemy acknowledgement of costly defeat is now conspicuously visible here in III Corps, where our 1st Division has its stamping ground. The sickness at home is so serious that the enemy's own documents are thought to be a huge joke, if they prove our soldiers' and our allies' success in the field. Yet facts are facts, hard evidence is still hard evidence and it is best to begin with the captured directives from the enemy's southern headquarters, COSVN, which trace the rather grisly story.

The first directive was issued on Feb. 1, after a meeting of the COSVN Current Affairs Committee on the night of Jan. 31, while the Tet offensive was still officially in full swing. As this paper is both long and well-drafted, the peculiar timing makes one suspect that it had been quietly prepared pre-Tet, in expectation of failure, by southern-experienced staff officers naturally skeptical of the immensely overambitious plan of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, who had no direct experience in the southern war until a few months ago.

Like all enemy documents, it accentuates the positive for the benefit of the wretched lower echelons, speaking of surging victories of all sorts. But the heart of the paper, nonetheless, is the sad acknowledgement that the offensive had already failed to attain its grand objectives: the general uprising, the collapse of the South Vietnamese army by defection and in other ways and the occupation of the cities.

In these bitter circumstances, all enemy units were adjured to attack and attack again, no matter what cost, until the grand objectives were finally and fully attained. The same theme ran through a second COSVN directive, issued after another Current Affairs Committee meeting, less than a week later. Attacks on U.S. units were now excluded, however, as too costly.

The third COSVN directive, dated Feb. 21, then canceled the order for further attacks on the towns and cities as impractical and dangerous. Yet it offered no surcease to the unhappy enemy GIs, since their units were still sternly commanded "to hang in" close to the towns and cities that had been their objectives.

The result was the kind of situation that Gen. Giap's able predecessor in command, the late Gen. Nguyen Chi Thanh, had found to be militarily untenable as long as two years ago, before the retreat to the border sanctuaries began. In II Corps, the result was a cruelly risky situation comparable to a military subway rush in which further heavy enemy losses were unavoidable.

Such losses were unavoidable because all the enemy units, from divisions downward, and all the U.S. and allied forces were angrily charging about in this II Corps area in a fatfish oval centered on Saigon, with a long diameter of hardly more than 50 miles. For the enemy, it was far worse than the situation two years ago before Gen. Thanh ordered the retreat to the border sanctuaries; for our forces were much stronger, and the near-in Viet Cong base areas had all been rendered near-useless.

The inevitable consequence was the continuation through March of losses for the enemy nearly as horrifying as those suffered in February. A fair though perhaps extreme example was a battalion of the 101st Regiment of the 7th North Vietnamese Division.

Prisoners taken toward the end of March revealed that the battalion had begun the Tet offensive with 400 men. It had lost its battalion commander, executive officer and most of its staff. It had been reduced in strength to under 50 men. And it had lost all touch with regimental headquarters since the beginning of the month. In general, Giap's Tet failure and his subsequent obstinate refusal to admit that defeat reduced all his units in South Vietnam to near-ruinous condition; and this was by no means compensated, except in the Delta, by intensified local press gagging.

The defeat was then belatedly acknowledged, when Giap at last permitted the scramble back toward the sanctuaries on the Cambodian border. This has now happened in all corps areas. Even in the Delta, the main enemy units are in their re-moter bases. At least five of the seven regiments of the B-3 front in II Corps have sought their usual sanctuaries, and it is the same here and even in I Corps.

Acknowledgement of a single defeat, however harsh and sanguinary, does not mean the end of any war, however. One must wait and see what happens when the present huge replacement flow from North Vietnam again fleshes out the enemy units that have suffered such dire losses.

Criminal Jury Dismissed In Decker Case

A criminal jury of eight men and four women with two alternate jurors, called to hear the case of the Commonwealth vs. Henry Decker, of 1419 Pennsylvania ave. W., was dismissed shortly after 9 a.m. Wednesday when a motion for Not Pross (no prosecution) by District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita was granted by Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr.

In addressing the jury, Judge Flick advised there would be no trial since the victim or complainant in the case had left the jurisdiction of the court leaving no word where she could be reached.

Decker was charged with assault with intent to ravish. The vital witness to the prosecution was Rosemary Beldon, formerly of 413 Taft pl., Warren. Borough police Sgt. Edward Peterson was the investigating officer.

The district attorney said Wednesday that out of a list of 15 cases for trial, nine had entered pleas, two requested continuances, one was not pross, one person was found guilty and two not guilty by juries.

The current trial list, Bonavita stated, has now been disposed of. The next grand jury convenes August 5 with criminal trials to start the week of August 12.

Two Chairmen Are Named For Development Program

THOMPSON

McGRAW

Two top chairmen for a development program for Brokenstraw Valley, sponsored by the Youngsville Volunteer Fire Department have been announced by Wallace Long, president.

Robert V. Thompson, vice president of National Forge Company, has been named general chairman with Ernest McGraw, mayor of Youngsville borough, serving as honorary chairman.

Members of the Youngsville volunteer fire department are beginning a development program for construction of a new building. The development site is the old athletic field, located between East Main street and Orchard street as well as land previously occupied by the former Hill building.

Headquarters have been established in the present fire hall on Railroad street where a representative of Hockenbury Systems, Inc. of Harrisburg is assisting with the planning.

Chairmen of a tri-area in Brokenstraw Valley will be announced as plans develop.

A WORD OF THANKS

To the citizens of Forest-Warren County, please accept my sincere appreciation for the trust you have once again placed in my hands as your assemblyman.

I will again pledge myself to work for the good and welfare of the people of our 56th district. With your continued help our district will become even more significant in our state of Pennsylvania and we shall move forward together for many years to come.

Your Assemblyman
William W. Allen

Reception Planned

Invitations have been extended by the executive committee of Forest County Cooperative Extension Service to a reception scheduled from 7-10 p.m. Friday at the fire hall in Tionesta. The event marks the retirement of Russell M. Smith as county agent.

The Great Banks, a part of the Atlantic continental shelf, extend about 350 miles off the southeast coast of Newfoundland. The Banks cover some 147,000 square miles.

Borough Fire Captains Attend State Fire School

Warren Borough Fire Captains Robert McKelvey and Thomas Bean last week attended the Pennsylvania State Fire School in Lewistown. Sessions concluded with class graduation last Friday for the 25 men who participated. Capt. Bean said that in addition to himself and McKelvey there were two firemen from Erie, one from Wilcox, several from the central and southeast sections of the state along with 10 men from the Newark area in New Jersey. Jersey firemen, according to Bean, when they first join the department, are required to attend any similar courses that are open at the time.

Fire school instructors are known nation-wide and the school teaches a variety of courses. Many subjects were covered in classroom including science of fire, combustion and extinguishment; first aid fire extinguishment; municipal water supply systems; automatic sprinkler systems; private fire protection devices and special fuel and fire problems. The men also took part in practical demonstrations to practice fire extinguishment of oil and other type fires using varied equipment and liquids or foam.

The state fire school, Bean said, is set up to resemble an actual fire station complete with two pumps and a ladder truck. Chief Ernie Fitzgerald stated the local department intends to send all of its men to the school until each has had an opportunity to participate.

Deserter Nabbed In Spartansburg

CORRY — An RD 3, Corry, serviceman, declared a deserter on February 28, was apprehended Monday at a home in Spartansburg by state police trooper John Evanko of the Corry substation. Taken into custody was Robert E. Proper, 20, who reportedly left his post at Fort Dix, N. J., January 28 and failed to return.

After 30 days, a serviceman who is absent without leave, is reclassified from simple AWOL status to that of deserter. Proper was first taken to the substation for questioning and then transferred to the Corry city jail to await the arrival of military police from Pittsburgh Monday evening.

Black Market in Domestics Is Flourishing in United States

NEW YORK (AP) — Silently, steadily a black market in imported domestics is flourishing across the United States, an unwanted offspring of the revised Immigration Act.

Government sources say the illegal human traffic is the work of a handful of immigration lawyers and employment agents who spotted a chance to make money by circumventing some provisions of the act.

Of an estimated 25,000 alien domestics now entering the nation each year, industry sources estimate that over half are admitted illegally with fraudulent papers provided—at a price—to make them immediately available to work as domestics. An estimated 5.5 million American homes seek household help, one source said, and Americans willing to do such work fill only about one-quarter of the demand.

With legitimate employment agencies complaining they are being put out of business by the shady competition, federal, state and local authorities are tightening law enforcement.

P. A. Esperdy, director of the New York-based District 3 office of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, says flatly there are "widespread violations of the law" involving "illegal practices by lawyers and employment agencies." He has a large investigative staff probing the racket, and some deportations and indictments already have resulted.

The American Bar Association also is investigating, with disbarment of some lawyers a possibility. Federal law prescribes punishment of up to five years imprisonment and $10,000 fines for falsification of entry and employment papers. Most states have a similar law.

The Immigration Act of 1965, with its revised quota systems, virtually cut off Britain and northern Europe as a source for domestics, a government spokesman explained.

Employment agents had to turn to the Caribbean countries and Latin America, since the new law—as it affects the Western Hemisphere—does not give priorities to skilled applicants or limit the immigration from a single nation to 20,000 yearly, as it does for the rest of the world.

The provisions of the revised law are not to take full effect until July 1. But the time required for processing applications and clearing red tape before that date already has reduced to a mere trickle the flow of servants from outside the Western Hemisphere, an industry source said. Laws in this country require worker protection, limit agent fees and require payment of area wage scales certified by the U.S. Department of Labor.

A government spokesman explained the racketeers simply ignore the requirements, charging both the domestic and the employer what the traffic will bear and selling their "product" through the appeal of immediate availability.

The spokesman said the black market domestic generally enters the country on a visitor's visa, obtained for him by the racketeer.

Although forbidden to work in the United States, the alien does so while an application for permanent entry is being processed through government of officers unaware that the applicant is already in the country. Other aliens are recruited abroad and provided with fake job offers to hasten their admission.

Bills are padded, employer and domestic frequently are double-billed, and a disgruntled black market maid often walks off the job, refusing to perform a minimum year's service called for in a contract. The racketeer shrugs it off, confident that no one can afford to complain to authorities.

The cost for a black market servant may run from $600 to $1,200, a government source said, and generally it's taken out of the alien's wage after being advanced by the employer. Through legal channels, the charge is perhaps $70 to the employer and from $150 to $200 to the servant.

Warren Area Juveniles Held On Charges of Larceny

Three Warren area juveniles are currently being held in the county detention room after being charged with larceny of a truck by Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty. All are 14-years of age. Hegerty stated the truck, owned by William Streich, of RD 1, Clarendon, was stolen Monday morning and later found near Franklin, completely burned up. The trio was picked up by state police of the Franklin substation and returned to Warren County, Hegerty stated.

Also under investigation by the chief deputy are five camp break-ins which occurred on Brown Run road sometime during the past two weeks.

World News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS In the news around the world: CALCUTTA (AP) — The time-honored Indian custom of airing a grievance by squatting in the middle of a busy road and holding up traffic is out—at least in West Bengal state.

Governor Dharma Vira banned squatting Wednesday because, he said, it "has become too frequent."

Roads have been blocked for hours—even days—causing dislocation and hardship "and this can no longer be allowed" he declared.

PARIS (AP) — The government is setting up requirements that two doctors, not involved in a planned transplant operation, certify that a donor is dead before his organs are removed for grafting into a living person. Health Minister Marcel Jeanneney told the cabinet Wednesday the rules would be outlined in a directive planned to issue.

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Crown Prince Harald and his fiancée, a commoner he met 10 years ago, will marry Aug. 29 in Oslo Cathedral. King Olav V announced Wednesday. Bishop Fridtjof S. Birkeli, newly appointed primate of the Norwegian church, will officiate.

The bride is Miss Sonja Haraldsen. She is 30 and Prince Harald, 31. King Olav gave his consent to their marriage last month.

AMSTERDAM (AP) — "A complete isolation, politically, economically and morally, will soon lead to the fall of the Greek junta," opposition leader Andreas Papandreu predicted at a news conference Wednesday.

"All Greeks are against the regime, the military mafia, as I would call them. The navy as a whole, the air force as a whole and a great part of the army are not loyal to the colonels, but they are controlled by them, which is a great difference," Papandreu said.

Papandreu is in Holland at the invitation of the Dutch Committee for Free Greece. Following the coup, last April he was detained for eight months and was released at Christmas.

Corry Drubs Eagles For 5th Straight Duel Win

By DAVE PIRILLO
Corry — Max Bennick's Corry Beaver track team continues to gather momentum for their big finale with the Knights of Franklin, The Youngville Eagles made the mistake of getting in the way and paid dearly in a 113½-36½ loss.

It was the fifth straight duel meet won by the Beaver tracksters without a taste of defeat while the Red and White thin-clads have a .500 mark with a 3-3 slate. Corry now stands in first place with Franklin in second place with a record of 2-0.

Youngville managed to take six of the eighteen blue ribbons, but they were no match for Corry's reserve strength in losing all but one of the runner-up posts. Five of the first place wins came on the cinders, but all the second and third place honors on the field were awarded to Corry.

Neither team had a triple winner, but both emerged with a double winner. Bob Swart carried the winning banner in the 200-yd. dash and shared a first in running the lead-off leg of the half-mile relay for the Beavers. Gary Wood was a familiar sight in the winner's circle for Youngville. He ran an 11.0 hundred-yard dash and a 53.2 in taking the quarter mile jaunt.

The picture of the meet was evident. The Orange and Black swept all three places in the 120-yd low hurdles, the mile, the 220-yd sprint, the shot put and pole vault. Corry's relay teams swept all three events in their class. Over half of the Beaver's points were accounted for in these sweeps.

Bob Long came through for Eagle coach Harry Shapiro by churning out a 2:08.9 half-mile. Max Collins won the tortoise test of the two-mile run. He galloped across the finish line in 10:49.3 and a good thirty yards ahead of Corry's John Bensink.

Conrad Dantelson's 19-foot leap for the Eagles was good enough to win the long jump. George Nelson straddled the low hurdles with a 22.5 and gave Youngville their final win of the afternoon.

Youngville will be at home on Friday afternoon when Bradford Central Christian and Sheffield come in for a triangular meet. A 3:30 starting time has been announced.

RESULTS

100 yd. dash — 1. Gary Wood (Y), 2. Bob Swart (C), 3. Nick Wattier (C), Time—11.0.

120-yd. high hurdles — 1. Loren Stockton (C), 2. John Kuzmer (C), 3. Tom Thieson (C), Time—17.6.

180 yd. low hurdles — 1. George Nelson (Y), 2. Loren Stockton (C), 3. Denny Harrison (C), Time—22.5.

220 yd. dash — 1. Bob Swart (C), 2. Nick Wattier (C), 3. K. Bennick (C), Time—25.0.

440 yd. dash — 1. Gary Wood (Y), 2. Gary Snell (C), 3. Denny Reick (C), Time—53.2.

880 yd. run — 1. Bob Long (Y), 2. John Scheiner (C), 3. Tom Kennedy (C), Time—2:08.9.

Unearned Runs Help Pirates Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Mazeroski's second sacrifice fly of the game snapped a sixth inning tie and the Pittsburgh Pirates held on to top Los Angeles 4-3 Wednesday night with the help of three unearned runs.

The victory was the first at home for Jim Bunning as a Pirate, although Jim Lefebvre tagged him for a three-run home in the first.

Bunning, 2-1, allowed seven hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Reliever Roy Face finished up.

Mazeroski's fly to Willie Davis in the sixth scored Gene Alley, who had reached base on an error by shortstop Zoilo Versailles and moved up on Roberto Clemente's single and an infield out.

Pittsburgh had tied the game with three runs in the fourth. Alley started it with a triple, the first hit off loser Claude Osteen, and scored on Clemente's ground out.

Davis then dropped Willie Stargell's fly in deep center for a three-base error and Donn Clendenon walked. Mazeroski's sacrifice fly scored Stargell and Manny Mota singled home Clendenon.

In the Dodgers' first, Wes Parker and Davis singled before Lefebvre smashed his second homer of the year into the upper deck in right field.

Flood Stars, Cards win, 7-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hot hitting Curt Flood drove in five runs with a triple and two singles Wednesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped Cincinnati 7-0 behind Ray Washburn's five-hit pitching.

Washburn breezed to his second victory without a loss after Mike Shannon's third homer touched off a three-run St. Louis burst in the second inning against Reds right-hander John Tsitouris.

Tsitouris, who went into the game with an 8-3 career record against the Cards, then walked Julian Javier and Washburn before Flood, the National League's leading hitter, sent both home with a single.

The Cardinals added a run off reliever Bill Kelso in the fifth on Roger Maris' triple and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth, Flood's second single drove in Javier, who led off with a single and took second on a throwing error by shortstop Leo Cardenas. Dal Maxwell's infield hit, a walk and Flood's triple to left center completed the assault in the eighth.

Stu Miller Released

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves announced Wednesday they would grant an unconditional release to relief pitcher Stu Miller.

Miller, 40, has been in baseball since 1952 and was purchased from Baltimore in the American League this spring after he finished last season with a 3-10 record, his worst in the majors.

Dogs Here Today

The Warren Dragons track and field meet with Meadville, originally slated for Friday, has been rescheduled to be held this afternoon at 4:00 on the hilltop oval. Coach Andy Randas has his charges at peak performance physically and after the grueling defeat the Blue and White handed Rocky Grove Tuesday, 118-32, the entire squad should be raring to go. The Dragons hold a 3-2 slate in dual competition. A bright spot on the Warren lineup for today may be the return of Rick Nasman to competition. Nasman, a senior, has been out since the second meet of the season but will reportedly be back at his duties of high jumping and pole vaulting.

Dodgers Make Plans To Reorganize -- If

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers owner Walter O'Malley plans to reorganize his baseball club and look outside the organization for a general manager if his present general manager quits, the Herald-Examiner said Tuesday.

General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi has been reported as planning to quit the Dodgers to become a part owner of a new National League franchise in San Diego next season.

"I wouldn't want to go on record yet about who would replace Buzzie," O'Malley told the Herald-Examiner. "There are five cities bidding for franchises. Only two of those cities will be picked."

O'Malley's strongest candidates to fill in for Bavasi until a permanent general manager is found are Fresno Thompson, who runs the farm clubs, and Arthur E. (Red) Patterson, public relations vice president, the newspaper said.

"The only one I would eliminate would be Peter O'Malley," O'Malley was quoted as saying. His son Peter is a vice president for stadium operations.

Lakers All Even

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers led by old pros Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, got help from unheralded Tom Hawkins and overpowered the Boston Celtics 123-113 Wednesday night, squaring their showdown for the National Basketball Association championship.

The victory sent the Lakers home all even with the third game of the best-of-7 series set for Los Angeles Friday night.

West connected for 35 points. Baylor contributed 23, while Hawkins, coming through in the clutch, hit for 19.

Los Angeles rallied down the decision with an outburst early in the third period. The Lakers tallied 11 straight points to take a commanding 73-60 lead in the decisive explosion. The Celtics never got closer than seven points the rest of the way.

Harris-Gonzalez Fight Off

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Promoter Herman Taylor Wednesday canceled a scheduled 10-round fight Thursday night between Philadelphia's Gypsy Joe Harris and Manny Gonzalez of Odessa, Tex.

Taylor made the move after Harris' personal physician, Dr. Jack Weinstein, advised Taylor the Philadelphia fighter, unbeaten in 24 bouts, was suffering an ear infection and tonsillitis.

It was the second time the bout was postponed. The two had been scheduled for 10 rounds on March 20, but that fight was called off when Harris pleaded a respiratory infection.

Taylor had hoped to match the winner against New York's Emil Griffith, with the winner of that bout getting a crack at middleweight champ Nino Benvenuti of Italy.

After Taylor canceled Thursday night's scheduled 10-rounder, Frank B. Wildman, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, ordered Harris and his co-managers, Yank Durham and Willie Reddish, to show up at a Philadelphia hearing next Monday.

Harris and Gonzalez, who holds a 43-16-6 record, were both examined by Pennsylvania Athletic Commission doctors Monday and were pronounced physically fit to go into the ring.

Pitcher Turns Hitter, Orioles Take Twins, 7-3

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pitcher Jim Hardin tripled home two runs in the sixth inning to break a tie but needed relief help from Eddie Watt to get Baltimore a 7-3 victory over Minnesota Wednesday.

Watt relieved in the last of the sixth and got the Orioles out of a bases-loaded jam by uncorking what would have been a wild pitch had it not been for a lucky bounce.

Watt's 2.2 pitch to Cesar Tovar with two out sailed over To-var to the backstop. The Twins' Ted Uhlander appeared to be able to score easily from third, but the ball took a hard bounce off the backstop right to catcher Elrod Hendricks who had an easy putout.

The Twins could mount nothing serious against Watt the rest of the way as he protected Hardin's second victory.

Baltimore tore into Dean Chance for seven hits and six of its runs in the first six innings, the Oriole attack against the Twins' 20-game winner of 1967 being capped by Hardin's triple.

Hardin's blow scored Hendricks, who had drawn a walk with two out, and Mark Belanger, who singled. Hardin also scored as Dave May ripped a double to right center.

Cold weather held the crowd to 2,011, one of the lowest on record for Minnesota. Temperature at game time was 37, and it rose to only 42 during the game.

Brundage Says So. Africa Out

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Avery Brundage confirmed Wednesday that South Africa is out of the Mexico City Olympics.

The American president of the International Olympic Committee said there were more than enough votes to keep South African athletes home.

And, in a statement, he said the IOC's executive board had feared there would be "actual danger if a South African team appeared at the Games."

Brundage said that with 54 of the 71 votes cast, 41 IOC members had approved the board's recommendation to withdraw the invitation to South Africa to participate in the Oct. 12-27 Games. Thirteen members voted in favor of South Africa.

Only a simple majority of 36 votes was required to bar South Africa.

South Africa, barred from the Olympics in 1963 for its racial segregation policies, was reinstated when the nation's Olympic Committee pledged to send a multiracial team to the 1968 Olympics. This was done in a mail vote of the IOC and announced at the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, nearly eight weeks ago.

A storm of protest followed.

More than 40 nations, most of them from Africa, said they would boycott the games. Other nations, including the Soviet Union, indicated they would, too, if South Africa competed.

Faced with a disaster to its multimillion-dollar production, Mexico City's organizing committee requested and got a special meeting of the IOC's executive board last weekend.

The board then unanimously recommended that the invitation be withdrawn and called for another vote of the IOC.

Once the executive board made its recommendation the result never was in doubt.

Horton Injured In Collision

CLEVELAND (AP) — Left fielder Willie Horton of the Detroit Tigers was carried off the field on a stretcher in the seventh inning of Wednesday night's game against Cleveland after a collision with shortstop Ray Oyler.

Horton and Oyler collided chasing a pop fly hit by Indians' pitcher Steve Hargan, which fell for a triple.

The extent of Horton's injury was not immediately known.

A preliminary examination showed that Horton had suffered a concussion but no fractures. He was taken to Shaker Medical Center and kept overnight for observation.

Hargan Shuts Out Tigers, 2-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steve Hargan shut out Detroit 2-0 Wednesday night on one hit as the Cleveland Indians ended the Tigers' nine-game winning string.

Hargan and Joe Sparma waged a tight pitching duel in windy, 38-degree weather, and the only run of the first six innings came on a throwing error by second baseman Dick McAuliffe in the second inning.

Hargan himself scored the Tribe's second run after getting a triple as a result of a collision in short leftfield between Willie Horton and Ray Oyler. Horton was carried off the field on a stretcher. First reports said that Horton suffered a concussion.

Jim Northrup, who singled leading off the third inning, was the only Tiger runner to get on base until McAuliffe walked to lead off the seventh.

A pickoff play and a double play erased these two runners and in the other five innings Hargan put the Tigers down 1-2-3, striking out seven.

Corry Athlete Hit by Baseball

BUFFALO — Larry Rieck, 19, of Corry, remains in serious condition in Buffalo General Hospital, after being hit by a batted ball in baseball practice at Houghton College.

Rieck was pitching batting practice and the baseball, batted through the pitcher's box, struck him in the forehead. Taken to a Cuba, N.Y. hospital he was soon transferred to Buffalo.

A member of his family said the youth is under intensive care but has been removed from the critical list.

A 1966 Corry High graduate, Rieck was active in baseball and other sports.

Dodgers Recall Sutton

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Right-handed pitcher Don Sutton was recalled Wednesday by the Los Angeles Dodgers and will join the club for its series in San Francisco starting Friday.

Sutton, 11-5, with the Dodgers in 1967, reported late to spring training as he finished a six-month stint of Army reserve duty.

OUTDOORS

by Don Neal

THE NEW OUTDOORISTS

It wasn't too many years ago that the outdoors was quite limited in the appeal it had for the general public. Hunting, fishing and camping interests were limited to a dedicated band of enthusiasts, and other than that only a few "nuts" penetrated the wide open spaces to pursue a limited variety of nature-related pastimes.

Family picnics were limited to the community groves, mostly privately owned, and what swimming was done, aside from that enjoyed by naked Huck Finns at a secluded pool, was done at or near the picnic areas.

It has only been since World War II that any great wave of general interest in outdoor activities swept the nation, and it has only been in the past decade that this wave has reached tidal proportions. So much so, that the demand for outdoor recreational opportunities is presently running well ahead of what might normally be expected from our highly publicized population explosion.

And with so many newcomers taking to the fields, forests, streams and lakes, each searching for the form of outdoor activity which will provide the most personal pleasure, it is only natural that the scope of outdoor activities has broadened tremendously.

Even the old standbys have been modified to agree with the demands of this new breed of outdoorists. The hunter no longer treks off into the backcountry, but drives on good roads to his favorite hunting territory, or in extreme cases uses a Jeep. The old-time fisherman complains that sport fishing has been commercialized and modern fishery management practices have taken the fun out of the sport. And if the modern camper can be compared at all with his counterpart of thirty years ago it is only because he has a camp axe cached away somewhere in his airstreamed trailer.

And still the old standbys have failed to make the greatest headway in attracting the attention of the new breed of outdoorists. Far greater gains have been made by what were once "off" or even unknown outdoor activities such as power boating and canoeing, hiking and bird watching, bicycling and jogging, scenic exploration and nature appreciation, as well as crosscountry skiing and game calling.

While considering the extent to which these new outdoor interests are catching on, and realizing that to a great extent most are or could be interrelated, Bill Rusin has come up with the idea of forming an outdoor club. A club that would pull together all of the related interests into single organization that could work toward the betterment of all. He has arranged an organizational meeting to be held in the Blue Room at the YMCA on April 29 at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons are urged to attend.

In addition, Bill has come up with an ace in the hole. He has obtained a wealth of information on a new sport that is said to be sweeping the nation as the all-round outdoor activity. Called "orienteering", it is claimed that this innovation provides a new way for clubs, families and individuals to have a lot more fun in the outdoors and contribute to their general physical condition while doing so. It originated in Sweden, where it is a compulsory school subject, but it has already spread over most of Europe where 14 countries competed in the world championships held in Finland in 1966.

Actually, orienteering is nothing more than a sports car rally on foot. It's open to all regardless of age or physical condition, and it can be played in any wooded area large enough to provide a challenge. The best part of it is, no specialized and expensive equipment is needed—a map, ballpoint pen, and a compass.

The idea of the game is to find one's way from one check-point to another and complete the course without missing any of the check-points. Each contestant is furnished a map showing the location of the check-points before starting out and a means of determining that he has reached each is worked out, either through having someone on duty at each flag or having a rubber stamp and pad available. The starting and finishing times must be observed or the participant is disqualified.

There's little question that the sport of orienteering has a lot of potential in an area such as ours. In the first place, it appears to be an ideal family sport. It's the type of activity that is bound to contribute to the physical fitness of everyone who participates. And the low cost of the necessary equipment would allow even the largest family to participate at a reasonable outlay of cash.

If it sounds too sissified for the rugged outdoorists, think for a minute. What about a night meet? What about a ten-mile course run against time? If neither of these suggestions sounds tough enough—add a seventy-pound pack to the back of each contestant.

"Orienteering sounds like a great sport, the kind that should be given a try."

Nelson Golf Opens Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — What may be the greatest gathering of big name golfers—many of them coming to pay tribute to one of their own—will move out Thursday in the opening round of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Classic.

A hipping Arnold Palmer, the greatest money-winner of all time, will play despite a painful hip injury. It's all because of Nelson, the fabled Tex. as golf great of the forties, who is being honored by having the tournament named for him and who was given a $25 a plate testimonial dinner.

Eleven of the twelve top money winners of golf history, led by the great Palmer, with Billy Casper No. 2 are in the field. The missing one is Tony Lema, killed in a plane crash last year.

The 13th, Ben Hogan, had to withdraw because of an injured knee, but the 14th and 15th are here—Bob Goalby and Don January.

Ike Cinderbells To Sponsor Meet

RUSSELL — The Allegheny Mountain Association AAU Junior Olympic Boys Track and Field Qualifying Meet will be held at Eisenhower High School Saturday, June 8. The Eisenhower High School Cinderbells will sponsor the meet.

The meet will cover Areas 5 and 8 and will include boys from the following counties: Warren, Erie, Cameron, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Forest, Jefferson and McKean.

Age groups for qualifiers are: bantam, nine and under; midget, 10 and 11; junior, 12 and 13; intermediate, 14 and 15; seniors, 16 and 17. First and second place qualifiers will take part in the AMA finals Saturday, June 15.

The first three places in selected events will qualify for the regional meet in Meadville. From there, the winners will go to the national competition.

Qualifying trials for "Race Walking" will also be held at the Eisenhower meet. The finals will be in Pittsburgh, Saturday, June 29.

Allegheny Stocked With Walleye Fry

Walleye fry have been stocked in the Allegheny River, from Tidoute to Oil City, according to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Lee Shortess, fish supervisor for Region I, said the area was not stocked last year.

Petitions requesting the stocking were signed by 1,500 last year.

There are 74 players who have won PGA tournaments and Jack Tunhill, PGA tournament director, said no other tournament could make that statement.

There are more than 550 from the top 60 money winners of the year. But Casper is the only tournament winner this year since George Knudson had to return to Canada under his visa.

Which shows how wide open things will be when the field of 156 starts hammering at Preston Trail Course with its 7,986 wind-swept yards.

Gary Player, one of the big names in the field, said it was one of the toughest golf courses he ever had played.

January, who is a Dallas resident and has played the Preston Trail course, was being eyed as a favorite for the $20,000 first money, January has just finished making a run for it in the Masters and then winning the Tournament of Champions.

Warren Beverage Champions' Prospects Bright For 1968

Prospects are bright for the Warren Beverage Baseball Team this season, according to Manager William LaRosa.

Members of the team will include four new players as well as eight returnees from the 1967 team. Three more players will be added to the roster. Emmons R. Jones of Warren Beverage will talk with any player interested in joining the team. The season opens at War Memorial Field, Sunday, May 5.

Two infielders and two pitchers have been added to the 1968 team. Bart Frazitta will play first base and Danny Mellow second base. Dick Lindamere of Bolivar, N.Y., a pitcher on the 1968 team, is returning. The other new pitcher is Dave Welty.

Returning from the 1967 championship team are: Nick Creola, shortstop; Jim Hannon, James-town and Ken Martin, infielders; Guy Conti and Tom Creola, catchers; Ken Magown and Steve Kudlock, outfielders and pitchers; and Pitcher Scott Melville.

Frazitta, for two years captain of the CCNY Baseball Team, will replace Ed Richardson, Beverage star for several years, now voluntarily retired. Frazitta played four years of college ball, batting .423 his senior year. In 1967, he played for Security People's Bank of Erie, leading the Glenwood League in hitting with .422 and was third in home runs.

Mellow batted .388 during four years of varsity ball at Erie Academy. He also played for Security in 1967, and was sixth in hitting. He was named to the Pennsylvania American Legion Team for two straight years.

Left-hander Dave Welty averaged 14.6 strikeouts a game and had a .33 earned run average to be national college leader in each category. A .400 hitter, he represented the United States in the Pan-American Games.

Nick Creola has been one of the team's leading hitters for several years. Conti, from Albion, Pa., has played organized baseball. Tom Creola is varsity catcher and leading hitter on the Salem College team. The catchers are three-year veterans with the team.

Magown, a Jamestown resident, spent five years as a Detroit Tiger farmhand after signing a contract at 17. He was second in hitting and home runs in the Erie Glenwood League last year. Kudlock, known as "The Austin Flash," spent two years in the Boston Red Sox chain. He led the league in home runs and stolen bases last year. Magown and Kudlock will also be in the pitching rotation this year.

Melville was undefeated this year. The only returning regular pitcher, he is now undefeated as a Slippery Rock College pitcher.

John Dent Predicts Clark Will Not Be Re-elected

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Congressman John Dent, who lost the Democratic nomination for the Senate to U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, predicted Wednesday that Clark won't be re-elected.

"He can't possibly win in November," Dent declared. "He will be a weak candidate. I

Fall Seeded Grains

Reported Doing Well

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday that fall seeded grains were doing well and oats and corn plantings were proceeding rapidly.

Hay and pasture fields continue green, the service said, but growth has been slowed because of dryness. The report was written prior to the rains which fell over most of the state.

Fruit crops were declared about two weeks ahead of schedule in all areas, the service said, noting that such a situation is undesirable because of the threat of frost damage.

The service said grapes in Erie County were budding rapidly and strawberries growing well. Volume picking of asparagus began last week and peas were reported in the planting stage.

know him personally." In the general election, Clark will be up against Congressman Richard Schweiker of Montgomery County, who won the Republican nomination for the Senate without opposition.

For Dent, Tuesday was a day of "firsts." He had a tooth extracted for the first time and lost an election for the first time in his long political career, although Westmoreland County Democrats renominated him for a sixth term as congressman.

When Dent rolled out of bed Wednesday morning, his jaw was still sore, and he said he wasn't about to concede because returns were in from only 2-3 of the state, and he was trailing by only 60,000 votes.

But later, just before heading to his dentist's office for a checkup, Dent told a reporter, "This is the first tooth I've lost. For that matter, I've only lost one election."

"Can we take that as a concession?" the newsman asked. "Yes, I think so," Dent replied. "The votes tell the story, anyway."

His pessimistic outlook was borne out later by a more complete tabulation. Returns showed him trailing Clark 442,095 votes to 384,300.

But Dent said he was "very gratified, very happy with the strong support for my candidacy."

Dent got into the race because he didn't like Clark's outspoken criticism of the Johnson administration's policy on Vietnam. Despite his views on Vietnam, however, Clark won the support of the state Democratic organization for renomination.

In analyzing the results of Tuesday's election, Dent said, "I entered the race very late, and the sudden withdrawal of President Johnson from the presidential race made it possible for my opponent to dodge the issue of just where he stood in the presidential race. The organization didn't have to make a choice and could let their early endorsement stand."

"If Johnson hadn't got out of the race or if Humphrey had come in, it would have been a different story," he said.

Dent also said he didn't have much money to spend—less than $100,000—on newspaper and radio and television publicity during the campaign.

Even the weather was against him, Dent said. "There was a severe storm in the Greensburg and Pittsburgh area Tuesday night just about the time a lot of people were getting home from work. A lot of them just didn't bother going to the polls."

Catholic Bishops in U.S. Favor Permanent Diaconate

(c) N.Y. Times News Service ST. LOUIS — The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States voted Wednesday to restore the ancient office of permanent diacon for "men of mature years" and to permit some of them to be married.

Under regulations passed by the Ecumenical Council and explained in detail by Pope Paul VI last June, married deacons may perform most of the duties of priests except officiating at mass and hearing confessions.

The move is regarded as a partial answer to the current shortage of priests, especially in rural and inner cities areas.

The action was taken on the second day of the mid-year meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. The 250 bishops are meeting in closed sessions at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel.

At a noon briefing the Most Rev. James P. Shannon, spokesman for the conference, said that the bishops had approved a petition to Pope Paul seeking permission to "restore in the U.S. the permanent diaconate for married and unmarried men of mature years."

No figures were released on the vote, but Episcopal sources said that the petition drew only token opposition before the written ballot. They also said that Vatican approval is regarded as certain.

The action takes advantage of Vatican regulations permitting the creation of two kinds of permanent deacons:

—Young men at least 25 years old who have completed a special three-year training course and who will be bound by the traditional celibacy requirement.

—Older men at least 35 years of age who have received an abbreviated training program and may be married before but not after ordination.

The office of deacon is one of three "orders" of the ministry mentioned in the Bible. The others are bishop and presbyter, or priest.

In the ancient church deacons supervised the charitable, financial and other administrative work of the church. For the last 1,000 years, however, the office has been little more than a way station into which a seminarian is ordained shortly before becoming a priest.

The ecumenical council restored the office, largely as a means of relieving the priest shortage in areas of South America and Africa.

On June 27 Pope Paul issued a 36-page papal statement declaring that the national episcopal bodies could ask the Holy See for permission to restore the permanent diaconate in their countries.

Wednesday's vote was a response to this invitation. Belgium, France, Brazil and Germany have already sought permission.

Under the papal guidelines, deacons will become permanent full-time church officials who will conduct baptisms and funerals, distribute the eucharist, give the blessing at weddings and read the scriptures at worship services.

Vatican officials indicated last summer that the new permanent deacons would initially be ordained with the same ceremony now reserved for seminarians, which includes the laying on of hands, but that this would later be "modified by the Holy See."

Senate Bill Would Set Control on Gun Sales

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The Senate judiciary committee cleared Wednesday for floor action a sweeping anticrime bill embracing limited controls on gun sales.

Senate debate is scheduled to open next week, possibly on Tuesday.

The gun control provisions would:

—Prohibit interstate mail order sales of handguns—pistols and revolvers—to individuals.

—Ban over-the-counter sales of handguns to nonresidents of a state and to persons under 21 years of age.

—Curb imports of surplus military weapons and other firearms and place tighter controls on sales of antitank guns, bazookas, mortars, grenades and other highly destructive weapons.

This will be the first time in 30 years that any significant gun control legislation has reached the Senate floor.

However, the gun control proposals fall far short of those repeatedly recommended by President Johnson over the last five years.

For example, the committee firmly resisted the President's proposal for a ban on mail order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. chief advocate of stiff gun control legislation, is expected to lead a floor fight to extend the mail order ban to rifles and shotguns.

Other sections of the bill are also certain to come under heavy attack.

As passed last year by the House, the bill was limited to federal grants to help train and equip state and local police forces and to develop crime-fighting techniques.

The Senate judiciary committee added gun controls and two other controversial sections.

One would authorize wiretapping and other electronic eavesdropping by law enforcement officers acting under court orders. The administration has strongly opposed such legislation.

The second would attempt to undercut recent Supreme Court decisions that limited the admissibility of confessions and identifications obtained in police line-ups.

Two Plead Guilty To Arson Charges

FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP) — Two young men accused of setting fires at a church camp and an abandoned house pleaded guilty to arson charges Wednesday and were held for court.

Bound over for Venango County grand jury action by Mrs. Mildred Z. Umbright, a justice of the peace in Sandy Creek Township, were Richard Chambers, 19, of Kemmerdell and James Custer, 19, of Vintondale, Cambria County.

Mrs. Umbright said that after the pair pleaded guilty, she set bond at $3,000 apiece and ordered them returned to the county jail when they couldn't post bail.

Chambers and Custer were arrested April 17 and charged with setting fire to a barn at Westminster Highlands, a United Presbyterian church camp near Embleton, and an abandoned house, also in the Embleton area.

State police said the fires were among a rash of 35 in recent weeks in the Embleton area of Venango County and neighboring parts of Butler and Clarion counties.

ART BUCHWALD

We'll Meet Again?

WASHINGTON—"The trouble with small wars," said my friend, Finsterman, who is in charge of small wars at the State Department, "is that both sides think they have won. We think we've defeated the North Vietnamese and they are sure that they have defeated us. Under these circumstances it's not only difficult to arrive at a peace settlement, it's impossible to agree on a site to even discuss it."

"But didn't we say we'd go anywhere, anytime to discuss peace with Hanoi?"

"Ah, yes, but we didn't say we'd go to Cambodia or Warsaw."

"That's true," I admitted. "We have them there."

"You must keep in mind that we've offered Hanoi the choice of 15 sites and they've only offered us the choice of two."

"It sounds like a body count to me."

"Their two sites have many drawbacks. Warsaw is in a Communist country, and Cambodia is a neutralist nation where, unfortunately, we have no diplomatic relations. In Warsaw, we know it would be much easier for them to bug us than for us to bug them. You can't have a peace conference without reciprocal bugging."

"What's wrong with Cambodia?"

"Besides the fact we have no diplomatic relations there, Cambodia was the first site the North Vietnamese selected, so naturally we had to reject it or it would look as if we were going to the conference table from a position of weakness."

"Why did North Vietnam turn down Geneva?"

"Because that's the first site we suggested. If they accepted our first suggestion it would look as if they were going to the conference table as the defeated party."

"But we must have known that before we suggested Geneva. Why did we suggest it?"

"We had to suggest someplace," Finsterman said. "You see, the trick of these negotiations is for both sides to suggest places because they are sure the other side won't go there. The one you want to go to you never mention and neither do they."

"Paris hasn't been mentioned," I said.

"Exactly. If we offered to meet Hanoi in Paris they would reject it out of hand. If they said they would meet us in Paris we would be hard put to accept it as it would look as though we were bowing to them. Paris makes sense to both sides at the moment because neither one has suggested it as a meeting place."

"You'll have to admit," I said, "that the average person is very confused about the fact that we can't agree on a site to talk. Why couldn't we announce that under no conditions would the United States meet Hanoi in Paris? When they heard that we didn't want to go to Paris they might insist on meeting us in Paris and no place else. Wouldn't that resolve the problem?"

"Absolutely not. For one thing, if we announced that we didn't want to go to Paris and then we agreed to meet in Paris, it would be a diplomatic victory for the Communists. Besides, if we met in Paris it would make De Gaulle look very good, which is something we would prefer to avoid if we possibly can."

"But if we never meet," I said, "then the chances for peace might run out on us and we'll have to continue the war, which is something I understand the United States doesn't want to do."

"It isn't a question of meeting. The real problem is to meet in good faith. Hanoi has shown bad faith by rejecting the sites we offered for a peace meeting."

"And they say we have shown bad faith by rejecting the sites they have suggested. Who is right?"

"To quote our great secretary of state, it depends on whose side you're on."

"If you had your choice of any site in the world to hold your conference, where would you select?"

"Ambassador Averill Harriman's house in Georgetown. The communications are excellent, the food is good and everyone knows that Georgetown is absolutely neutral, in word, thought and deed."

Republicans Retain Control Of Chamber for Balance of '68

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Republicans have retained political control of the chamber for the balance of 1968 with the task for the GOP leadership now one of making the slim majority work on major party issues.

An apparent 3-3 split with the minority Democrats in six special elections Tuesday boosted a Republican strength in the 203-man House to 104, only two votes more than the 102 it takes to pass legislation on straight party lines.

But the six-month battle over Gov. Shafer's $266 million tax program last year, when the GOP also started out with a 104-99 margin, demonstrated the slight constitutional advantage is not necessarily workable.

Two staunch Republican holdouts, coupled with illnesses, absences and solid Democratic opposition, stymied the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth for half a year.

It wasn't until the Democrats provided a minimal number of votes for the revenue measures that the tax package ultimately was passed in December at $264 million.

The six special elections, held simultaneously with the regular primary balloting for all 203 of the House seats and 25 of 50 of the Senate seats, were called to fill two vacancies created by death and four by resignations.

The GOP won a clear victory with Andrew S. Moscrip of Rt. 1, Rome, in the traditionally Republican 110th District of Bradford County. On the basis of unofficial returns, the Republicans claimed victory in the 89th District of Franklin and Cumberland counties and the normally Democratic 190th of Philadelphia.

Republican R. Harry Bittle held a lead of some 300 votes over Democrat Robert V. Cox, a Pulitzer Prize-winning newspaperman making his bid for political office in the 79th.

In the 190th, unofficial tabulations gave Republican Aljia Duman a 137-vote edge over Democrat James D. Barber in a major surprise of the legislative races.

The Democrats saw Eugene F. Scanlon and Frank O'Brien win their 17th and 22nd Districts of Allegheny County, and pulled off a coup of their own in 89th District of Blair County with Denny J. Bixler. The 89th last was represented by the late Robert E. Clarke, a Republican.

The victors may take their seats through Nov. 31 once their returns are certified. All are bid

Incumbents Win Chance To Regain Seats in Nov.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty four incumbents and three state senators hoping to advance their political positions have won spots in the November general election contests for Pennsylvania's 27 congressional seats.

Only seven congressmen who sought re-election, five Democrats and two Republicans, were challenged for their party's nomination in Tuesday's primary election and all won handily.

Ten Republicans and seven Democrats encountered no intraparty opposition in their quest for re-election while the three state senators are after vacancies created by veteran lawmakers who retired from the U.S. House for personal or political reasons.

The current Pennsylvania House delegation in the nation's capital stands at 14 Democrats, 13 Republicans.

Democrats who overcame primary challenges were: U.S. Reps. James A. Byrne, Philadelphia, 3rd District; Joshua Ellberg, Philadelphia, 4th; John H. Dent, Westmoreland, 21st; Frank M. Clark, Beaver, 25th, and Thomas E. Morgan, Washington, 26th.

The two Republicans who encountered no difficulty in winning renomination in Tuesday's contests were U.S. Reps. J. Irving Whalley, Somerset, the 28th District, and Edwin D. Eshleman, Lancaster, the 16th.

Dent, incidentally, was unsuccessful in his 11th-hour campaign to defeat two-term incumbent Joseph S. Clark for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Pennsylvania election laws allowed Dent to run for the Senate at the same time he was seeking renomination to the House. He would have had to remove himself from the House race back home if he had beaten Clark.

The three state lawmakers who bypassed a bid for another term in Harrisburg for a shot at a seat in Washington were Sens. R. Lawrence Coughlin, R. Montgomery; Gus Yatron, D. Berks; and Joseph M. Gaydos, D. Allegheny.

Coughlin moved into the vacuum created when four-term congressman Richard S. Schweiker abandoned his safe 13th District seat for the unopposed Republican nomination to contest Clark for the Senate in November.

Coughlin faced only token opposition in his primary run for Congress.

Gaydos is after the 20th District seat held for eight terms by U.S. Rep. Elmer Holland, who failed to gain the backing of Allegheny County Democratic leaders for yet another two years. Gaydos stormed over two other Democratic contestants to get on the general election ballot.

Yatron had an easier time of it. He was unopposed for the Democratic nomination in the 6th District, the ballcock of veteran U.S. Rep. George M. Rhodes since 18 years. Rhodes simply retired.

Historical Society Archivist Honored at Testimonial Dinner

SILVER BOWL FOR ARCHIVIST

A silver bowl is presented to Mrs. Frances Ramsey by past president of the Warren County Historical Society T. Kenneth Stratton at a testimonial dinner in her honor given by directors, officers and patrons of the society Monday evening. (Photo by Hoff)

BY FRANKLIN R. HOFF

Mrs. Frances A. Ramsey was honored at a testimonial dinner Monday evening by directors, past and present officers and patrons of the Warren County Historical Society. The affair was held at Jackson Valley Country Club.

After a number of her longtime friends and associates expressed their esteem and affection for the archivist of the society, Mrs. Ramsey was presented with a silver bowl, appropriately inscribed as a memento of the occasion.

Past president Dr. William Cashman was toastmaster. The gift was presented by past president T. Kenneth Stratton. Others who paid brief tribute to her and her inestimable services to history, not only of Warren County, but of the entire region, included Mrs. Robert H. Israel, Joseph DeFrees, Mayor Donald E. Conaway, W. Floyd Clinger Sr., Mrs. Helen Chase, secretary for the society, Leroy Schneek, Merle H. Deardorff, Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr., Franklin R. Hoff, T.K. Stratton and others.

Letters were read from a number who were unable to attend, including past president Ernest C. Miller, Charles R. Anderson, S. K. Stevenson, publisher Titusville Herald and chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission; Donald H. Kemp, director of the Bureau of Pennsylvania Historical Archives of the Pennsylvania Museum and others.

Dr. Cashman showed a series of color slides, in which Mrs. Ramsey was photographed on various historical expeditions and archeological projects.

Special tribute was paid to Mrs. Ramsey for her tremendous researches, and her wide stimulation of interest in history in this region through her former series of radio broadcasts over WNAE-WRRN-FM. She was acclaimed for her more recent completion of a further series of tape-recorded historical talks, which have been placed in the new teaching materials center for Warren, Venango and Erie Counties located at Edinboro. It is now indicated this pioneering historical education project is being

In her response, after being presented with the silver bowl, Mrs. Ramsey recalled her varied career on the West Coast, in New England, in Washington and other areas, in history and archaeology, and expressed her great happiness with her work with the Warren County Historical Society, and its development. She paid high tribute to her associates and colleagues who had given indispensable service to the society over many years. "It has certainly been rewarding," she observed. "We have here so much of the original documentary evidence of the times from Johnny Appleseed down, from the finding of the report of that first election here, in the old basement of the Court House."

T. Kenneth Stratton summed up the affection of all for Frances Ramsey, calling her the "complete historian." He observed that, although many talented people contribute their efforts and devotion to the Warren County Historical Society, it is Mrs. Ramsey's unique ability as a scholar and historian to communicate to others the importance, excitement and romance of our historical past, and make those of an earlier day emerge as real and wonderful people. "She makes history come alive!" he declared.

Quickie Course

Meadville Police Chief John Holt recently found the doors of a downtown store wide open and not a clerk in sight to ask him whether he was a customer or a shoplifter. Searching the building, he found all clerks and key personnel at a staff conference. Chief Holt joined the meeting and presented a quickie course on how to spot and deal with shoplifters. At the time of the next staff conference, the chief noted there was a doorman on duty.

WARREN TIMES-MIRROR AND OBSERVER

WARREN, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1968

Question Approvals Called 'Most Significant Achievement'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania's voters, who otherwise displayed widespread apathy toward the primary election, overwhelmingly approved Tuesday five proposals designed to modernize the state's constitution.

Gov. Shafer immediately called the election outcome the "most significant long-range achievement for Pennsylvania in this century."

Shafer, who made constitutional revision the No. 1 goal of his administration when he took office 15 months ago, held a news conference in Harrisburg Wednesday morning to discuss the primary.

"I am proud of Pennsylvanians today," he told newsmen. "The victory is their victory; one that will have great meaning to their future and the future of their children."

All five of the proposals for updating the state's 94-year-old basic charter were adopted by impressive margins although two of the questions faced stiff opposition in some areas.

With 9,221 of the state's 9,460 precincts reporting, the proposals on local government, state finance and legislative apportionment were approved by margins of up to 439,000 votes.

Although the judiciary and the taxation proposals proved less popular, both were carried by more than 100,000 votes. The stiffest opposition was encountered in western Pennsylvania.

The five proposals, which will replace four key sections of the Constitution, were drafted by a convention that met for 90 days late last year and early this year.

Both the Republican and the Democratic parties had endorsed the proposals before the election, and a bipartisan team of influential citizens had vigorously campaigned across the state in their behalf.

At Wednesday's news conference, Shafer, a Republican, had praised former Gov. William W. Scranton, also a Republican, and George M. Leader, a Democrat, who served as co-chairmen of the bipartisan citizens' group.

Shafer also took a parting jab at critics of constitutional revision.

"The vote," he said, "was an act of courage by the people in finally overcoming the scare tactics of selfish interests that were used so effectively for decades to stop constitutional reform."

The governor also said that he would soon appoint a special commission to make recommendations on how the legislature should go about implementing the constitutional proposals that require legislation.

The commission, he said, is to be made up of representatives of the legislative and executive branches of state government and members of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

Many proposals are going to require legislation for implementation.

The local government proposal, for example, stipulates that the legislature must adopt uniform, statewide procedures and laws on mergers, consolidations and boundary changes within two years.

Designed To Modernize Charter

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The five constitutional revision proposals approved by Pennsylvania's voters Tuesday were designed to modernize four key articles of the state's 94-year-old basic charter.

Here is a capsule version of the proposals:

Legislative Apportionment — Retain the current 50-seat Senate and 203-member House; create a commission empowered to re-apportion the legislature every 10 years after each federal census.

State Finance — Remove the state's current $1 million debt limit, replacing it with a flexible ceiling based on tax revenues; provide updated budgeting, financial planning and auditing procedures.

Taxation — Retain but narrow existing tax exemptions; require the state to return to local government units a portion of the gross receipts tax it collects from public utilities in lieu of real estate taxes on operating facilities, such as power plants.

Local Government — Provide for home rule for all local government units; create optional forms of local governments; establish uniform, statewide procedures for mergers, consolidations and boundary changes; revamp local government debt limits; provide for intergovernmental cooperation; require regular re-apportionment of local governments.

Judiciary — Establish a unified court system; reform the minor judiciary system; reduce the number of justices of the peace by about 75 per cent and abolish the fee system; provide rules for the selection, qualifications, tenure, removal, discipline and retirement of judges and justices of the peace; and create a separate Commonwealth Court with powers and duties similar to those now held by the Dauphin County Court.

Sugar Grove Man Jailed in Mayville

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — A Sugar Grove motorist, facing fines and bail totaling $560, was taken to Chautauqua County jail in Mayville late Tuesday morning in lieu of payments.

Edward J. Diethrick, 22, had been confined to Jamestown city jail since his arrest early Monday following a high speed chase participated in by Jamestown city police, state police, Chautauqua County sheriff's department and Town of Busti authorities.

The latest charges, speeding, failure to keep right and driving on a suspended license, came in the form of detainer warrants filed by Town of Busti authorities. Bail was set at $200 on these charges.

Other charges placed against the Warren County man included driving while intoxicated, speeding, failure to obey the orders of a police officer, driving while not wearing required glasses, failure to have an inspection sticker, resisting arrest and 10 charges of passing stop signs.

In city court Monday Diethrick pleaded innocent to driving while intoxicated.

Court officials in Jamestown said the case probably set a new record for the number of charges placed against a single defendant at one time.

Gov. Shafer Plans to Lead 'Uncommitted' Delegation

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said Wednesday he still planned to lead an uncommitted delegation to the Republican National Convention despite the impressive showing of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Pennsylvania presidential preference primary.

"Dick Nixon did receive the most write-in votes," Shafer acknowledged, but the governor quickly noted that Nixon currently is the only announced candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Shafer, speaking at a news conference, discounted the write-ins cast for Nixon and others as representing only "pocket of support" and not a general consensus of Republicans statewide.

"I don't believe the result was particularly significant in the over-all situation," Shafer said, adding that his plans to be a "favorite son" in order to hold the delegation together were not altered by the primary.

Unofficial and incomplete returns showed Nixon holding a 3-to-1 margin over Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York. Neither man's name was on the ballot, and neither campaigned for votes in Pennsylvania.

Shafer said he also did not believe the victory by U. S. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in the presidential preference balloting among Pennsylvania Democrats was significant, since McCarthy's was the only name on the ballot.

The governor expressed an opinion that the primary indicated U. S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D. Pa., faced an uphill battle in his bid for reelection in November. Although Clark won renomination easily, challenger John H. Dent polled nearly 47 per cent of the total vote.

"It made it more evident than ever that the people of Pennsylvania want a change in the U. S. Senate insofar as Joe Clark is concerned," Shafer said. "Dick Schweiker (unopposed for the GOP nomination) will win a resounding victory in November."

New Miss Warren County To Appear at WNB Open House

Eileen Young, winner of this year's Miss Warren County pageant, has, for personal reasons, given up the title, pageant chairman John Chiodo said Wednesday.

The new Miss Warren County is Jane Roshong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Roshong of 305 W. Fifth ave., who was first runner-up in the pageant. Miss Roshong will represent Warren County at the Miss Pennsylvania pageant in Hershey June 15. She has attended Texas Christian University and is now a student at the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College.

Miss Roshong will appear at Warren National Bank's open house today and draw the winning tickets for the bank's anniversary prizes.

MICKEY WRIGHT'S GLORIOUS OPENING DAY will be held at the Conewango Valley Country Club on Tuesday, May 7th. After the long, long winter months, the lady golfers are looking forward to the opening of the 1968 Golf Season. On this day, there will be a 9-hole, best ball tournament and participants are to select their own foursomes. After the afternoon of golf, golfers and non-golfers of the CVCC are invited for dinner at 7 p. m. Mrs. J. Albert Loranger is chairman for this much anticipated event. Make reservations as soon as possible.

DID YOU EVER SEE A GREEN HIPPOPOTAMUS? The interesting question intrigued me and I read on, since naturally (being a bit on the conservative side) the answer was "No." Well, if YOU are greeted some morning by a pink elephant, the aforesaid hippopotamus, a rose-colored octopus, or a purple cow, a slithering snake, a creeping dragon or alligator, a South American llama, it doesn't necessarily mean that the celebration of the night before was a trifle too hearty. All it may mean is that your children are now in the process of collecting stuffed animals. And, the stuffed fauna census of Toy Manufacturers of America, estimates that the country is rapidly turning into another Noah's Ark to the tune of more than $1,500,000 in 1968. Quite a giant step away from the Teddy Bear that was the beloved companion of my childhood, and never mind the year!

THE GEORGE W. CUNNINGHAMS SR., of 103 Park, North Warren, are now doing some traveling around the State of Florida. On Tuesday they visited the state-owned Ringling Museums located in Sarasota. The museum consists of the Asolo Theater, the only original 18th century Italian theater in America; the Museum of Art, famed for its outstanding collection of Baroque Art; the Ringling residence "Ca' d'Zan," a $1,500,000 Venetian Gothic palazzo; and the Ringling Museum of the Circus, the first of its kind.

MINIATURES: Mrs. F. Boyer has returned to her Starbrick home after spending some time with her son, James, and his family in Detroit, Michigan. Young Mr. Boyer, who had eye surgery, is now recovering.

VFW No. 631 Ladies Auxiliary's meeting time is changed for this evening; it is now to be called to order at 7:30. A good turnout is asked for the election of officers.

This next Sunday St. Clara's and St. Anthony's will have their regular monthly Bake Sale at both churches after each Mass.

Girl Scout Art Show entries are now being accepted at the Girl Scout office, 404 Market street, from 9 to 12 noon through Saturday, the 27th. The Girl Scout Art Show opens at the Warren Art League Center on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: At the moment I am so mad I could chew thumb tacks.

Our son is in Vietnam. He writes once, sometimes twice a week. The mail is very important to my husband and me. We live for it. The woman next door is an attractive brunette with a very friendly manner. She is especially friendly to the postman. I am so eager to get the mail these days I stand on the front porch waiting. For the past two weeks the postman has been going into this woman's house for a cup of coffee. I have tapped my toe for as long as 15 minutes waiting for him to come out. Yesterday he was in there for 20 minutes.

Should I telephone the Post Office and report him? (I hate to be a troublemaker.) Or should I knock on the woman's door and ask the postman for my mail? It is not my business how long he sits there. All I want is a letter from my son. — NEEDLES AND PINS

DEAR N & P: If you don't want to be a troublemaker, grab the mailman BEFORE he goes into the neighbor's house for his cup of coffee.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 16 who thinks you are the grooviest. I need your help and I hope you'll come through. My problem is acne. At first it was just a few pimples but now my face and neck are covered. My mother says it is part of growing up and I shouldn't let it bother me. She keeps telling me time will take care of it. For over a year I have been self-conscious and miserable. How much longer should it take? I have tried laying off certain foods but it hasn't helped. I bought medicines I saw advertised and they haven't done me any good. We don't have a lot of money for doctors so please don't suggest treatments.

Should I keep trying the medicines in hopes something will help or should I be patient and hope time will take care of it? Do you know of any cure? — THE NEW ORLEANS MESS

DEAR NEW ORLEANS: There is no sure cure for acne. A treatment that works wonders for one person might prove totally worthless for another.

Go to a doctor. You don't need "a lot of money." You will spend less with a good doctor than if you continue to buy worthless concoctions and treat yourself. Special lamp treatments (in the physician's office of course) have helped thousands of kids just like you. Please make an appointment today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you attributed to St. Paul the statement: "It is not good for man to be alone." I have heard of robbing Peter to pay Paul, but YOU, dear lady, are robbing God. The statement was made by Him in Genesis 2:18. I don't believe God would resent your faulty attribution but I do feel you should keep the record straight in the interest of accuracy. — YOUR FRIENDLY PASTOR J.J.W. OF K.A.M.

DEAR FRIENDLY PASTOR: Thank you for calling this gross error to my attention. I have before me over 100 letters from other readers who caught the mistake. What a joy to know my column is read by keen observers who are obviously better versed in the Bible than I. Thanks to all of you who wrote. I'll take 10 lashes with an old prayer shawl.

Home Street Parents View Program Of Dancing, Singing

A program of folk singing and square dancing was presented by sixth grade pupils for the entertainment of the Monday evening meeting of the Home Street Parents Club. Howard Anderson was the adult accompanist for the program.

President Carl Papalia conducted the business meeting at which the nominating committee, comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hanna, presented the following slate of officers for next year: John L. Donaldson, president; Richard Sherwood, vice president; Mrs. William Bunk, secretary; Mrs. Larry Krespan, treasurer; Mrs. Bruce Duell, publicity.

Committee for devotions — Mrs. Patricia Williams and Mrs. Carol Hanna; Ways and Means committee — Mrs. Louis Miosi and Mrs. Ralph Tencate; refreshments, Mrs. John Saylor; teachers dinner, Mrs. Sandra Koebly. All officers were elected by a unanimous vote.

Dr. T. Kottraba reported on plans for the sixth grade trip on May 18, listing a proposed itinerary.

A period of classroom visitation followed the business meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Peter Linder and her committee consisting of Mrs. Gall Ettinger, Mrs. Robert Foster and Mrs. Charles Gustafson.

Mrs. Mabel Perrin of R. D. 1, Bear Lake, announces the engagement of her youngest daughter, Sherry Diane, to Donald Ray Gruber, the son of Mr. Ray Gruber of Sugar Grove and the late Mrs. Erma Gruber. The bride-elect is also the daughter of the late Robert Lee Perrin. The couple have selected May 14th for their wedding date. Miss Perrin and her fiancé both attended Eisenhower High School. Mr. Gruber who has served two years in the Armed Forces, served one year in Vietnam.

Grange News

Watson Grange No. 1068 meets at 7 this evening in the hall with the Warren Youth Grangers presenting the program.

At the recent meeting of Watson Grange Mr. Mallare of the Jamestown Social Security office presented a very interesting and informative program.

Business transacted was the decision to purchase a submersible pump from Clair Wilcox, proposal for memberships from Dan Stimmell and constitutional convention pamphlets distributed.

Robert Hollabaugh, member of Warren Co. Fair Board, discussed the fair with committees from Watson appointed as follows: concession—Jean Hollabaugh and exhibit—Ray Wilcox and Frank Chapel.

The Sound Of Music Opens Tonight At The High School

When The Sound of Music opens tonight at 8 p.m. in the Warren Area High School Auditorium, and continues tomorrow and Saturday nights, the audience will realize the culmination of months of planning and rehearsing of three experienced directors, Miss Sandra Ryan, Carroll Fowler, and Daniel Harpster.

Directing the dialogue and stage movements, Miss Ryan brings to her task experience in coaching plays in Kane and in stage management at the Millbrook Playhouse and at Bloomsburg State College. Warren audiences have seen evidence of her ability in Boys and Girls Together, Act Your Age, and The Wizard of Oz.

Vocal director Mr. Fowler holds the distinction of wielding the baton for Warren Players' first musical, No, No, Nanette. Renowned for his superior choirs, he has the gift of

Cultural Program And Installation At Jefferson PTA

At the meeting of Monday evening of the Jefferson Elementary School PTA a panel discussion on "Cultural Development of the Grade School Child" was the highlight of the evening, after the installation of officers for the new term of 68 and 69.

Those taking part in the program were Miss Ann Lesser — Books; Mrs. Betty McClain — Art; Mrs. Edith O'Hara — Drama; and, Howard Anderson — Music.

William Prendergast, president; Lewis Rich, vice president; Mrs. John Fanaritis, secretary and Mrs. George Means, treasurer, were the officers formally installed.

Classroom visitation from 7:30 to 8 preceded the meeting and program.

Sunday School Workshop This Saturday

A one day Sunday School convention in the form of a workshop is to be held on Saturday April 27 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The convention, which will be non-denominational, is planned and sponsored by the American Sunday School Union under the direction of Donald W. Strand of Kane.

Recognizing the needs of the small Sunday School the subjects to be covered will be: How To Teach The Bible; Making The Small Sunday School More Effective; The Use of Visual Aids; Helps for Vacation Bible School.

Speakers on the subjects are the Rev. Allan Hearl, the Rev. Raymond Bach, Miss Marian Kiser and Miss Evelyn Kahle with Mr. Strand presiding.

Those attending are asked to bring their own sack lunch. The beverage will be furnished. All Sunday School teachers, officers and interested Sunday School workers are encouraged to be present.

Participating In State Band

Kathleen Glordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Glordon of R.D. 1, Sugar Grove, and a sophomore at Youngsville High School, has been chosen to attend Region I State Band at Franklin Area High School, April 25 through 27. Kathy qualified on the oboe while at district band last month.

Guest conductor of the band, to be composed of 200 students from the three districts that form Region I, will be Sidney Berg, director of music for the Norfolk City Schools of Virginia.

Also attending will be Robert L. English of the Youngsville Music Department.

Irvinedale PTA Names New Officers For Year

Officers for Irvinedale PTA 68-69 school year will be Mrs. Glen Valentine, serving a second term as president; Mrs. Paul Sowers, vice-president; Mrs. Bernard Gray, secretary; and Mrs. James Whitmire, treasurer. The chairman for finance, publicity, membership, home room mother, devotion, hospitality, and refreshments, will be announced later.

There will be a recognition dinner on May 21 for the sixth grade. Parents and PTA members are invited to attend. Mrs. Ruth Rice will be chairman of the affair.

Mrs. James Whitmire announced that a box for Betty Crocker coupons will be placed in each room. The group purchased a 125 cup coffee pot and will redeem the coupons toward the purchase price. It was also voted to purchase a World Book dictionary and present it to the school. The final project for the year is a mock bake sale now in progress with Mrs. Barbara Kinnison and Mrs. Barbara Moore in charge. Mrs. James Schumann and Mrs. Valentine reported on their trip to the Regional Leadership Training session held at Meadville.

All officers-elect and the finance chairman are asked to attend the County Council meeting May 16, at 8 o'clock at the Northwest Savings building. Please call Mrs. Valentine for reservations.

Mrs. McCollough's fourth grade won the attendance award.

Mrs. James Johnson and mothers of sixth grade pupils served refreshments for this final meeting of the year. Norman Perschke, assistant County Agent, showed slides on Scenic Pennsylvania.

Russell Church Presenting Spring Cantata

The Russell Methodist Church choir will be presenting their annual spring concert Sunday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. The forty member choir under the direction of Mrs. Floyd Lindquist will present the cantata "No Greater Love" by John Peterson. This will be the choir's fourth presentation of this cantata, which is being featured again by request.

The musical selection tells the story of Christ's death and resurrection not only in song but also in scriptural text. The Rev. Arthur Hummel, pastor, will narrate.

Featured soloists for the evening are Mrs. John Stanton, Miss Trudy Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. James Prettyman, Herbert Webster, Eugene Schwanke, Donald Fehlman, Miss Donna Fehlman and Mrs. David Marsh. Mrs. Kenneth Jespersen, organist, and Mrs. Lorna Mack, pianist, will accompany the choir.

The public is cordially invited to this evening of musical enjoyment and Christian fellowship.

Officers Installed At Combined Dinner Meeting

Last Saturday a dinner was held by the Hayseed Cootlette Club No. 302 and the Military Order of Cootles Pup tent No. 40 in the dining room of the Post 631 V.F.W. Club. Co-chairman in charge of the arrangements were Katherine Lingo, Mary Tellman and Alice Nasman, the committee comprising all members of both organizations. A welcome and thanks were extended to all who attended for their cooperation and help in the past year. Thanks were given to the Dads of Foreign Service Veterans for money donated toward expenses of the Warren State Hospital party for veterans the next day. Following the dinner, brief meetings were held, with officer Axel Nasman installing the Cootles. A new member was welcomed, Howard Wills, who became an honorary Cootle. The Cootlettes welcomed into the club two new members, Helen Parker and Ann Dilling-er. Alice Nasman was installation officer for the Cootlettes, and presented out-going Chief Grayback Ann Swanson with a corsage and a gift. The following officers were installed: Chief Grayback, Ethel Johnson; senior vice, Mary Johnson; junior vice, Ann Swanson; treasurer, Dorothy Robinault; secretary, Alice Nasman; hospital chairman, Mary Tellman; chaplain Katherine Lingo.

The bidding:
North East South West
1♥ Pass 1♠ 2♣
2♦ Pass 2NT Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Jack of ♠

Not sufficient emphasis has ever been placed on the partnership factor in bidding. There is too much assumption of responsibility by the player in the making of decisions in doubtful cases, when discretion would call for a consultation with partner. Such a consultation is available by means of the forcing pass, which permits partner to decide. An extreme case of this principle occurs in this hand.

North opened the bidding with one heart and partner responded with one spade. West came in with two clubs and North made what appears to be the very normal rebid of two diamonds. South, in view of partner's free bid went on to two no trump and North carried on to game. Against the excellent opening lead of the jack of hearts, declarer could take no more than eight tricks.

It is North's rebid that is the subject of our observation. South contended that his partner should have passed the two club bid around to him. This bid he would have doubled for a set of 800 points. North maintained that there was no way for him to know that his partner could double two clubs. To which South replied, "You could pass and find out."

"But what if you were unable to do anything over the two club bid?" was North's query. South properly contended, "You might have trusted me. With sound values I would hardly permit the opposition to steal the hand from a partner who has opened the bidding."

I am inclined to sympathize with South's point of view. North with 15 high card points and balanced distribution was not far removed from a minimum opening, and he might well have left the decision up to his partner once West chose to enter the proceedings.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)--Planetary aspects are not entirely friendly. Much will depend upon your adaptability, willingness to alter schedules, revise plans, etc. Don't follow false leads.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)--Especially favored under propitious Venus influences: Education and welfare matters, study, scientific experiments, artistic pursuits and romance.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)--An average day in spots, much better in some areas. Keep accounts, records in order. Examine your procedure and tactics. Best efforts will bring new laurels.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)--Note the fine points in complicated matters, affairs of import. Make statements, decisions with particular care. Past procedures may have to be changed.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)--Some fireworks indicated in personal and money matters. Beware of instability, over-emotionalism. Consult with others as to the best way of getting onto the sure, productive road.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)--Avoid actions which could tip the scales the wrong way. You have instinct and intuition that will help you. Concentrate upon worthwhile endeavors only.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)--There may be some delays or interruption in your schedule, but an alert and busy mind like yours should help to eliminate the distractions.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)--Doctors, nurses, medical workers generally, pharmaceutical suppliers and agriculturists favored for new advances. Do not turn in a merely average performance but a superior one.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)--Upon a second look at this day's program, you may recognize new dimensions, variances you did not know existed--more opportunities for achievement. So take that second, and more thorough, look!

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)--Planetary aspects generally advise against hasty speech, thoughtless acts. Day has plenty of advantages for those who are alert and ambitious. Maintain your highest standards.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)--Instant results of effort are rarely forthcoming. But steadfastness and faith eventually bring reward--often in unexpected ways. Remember this now, when, with little planetary help, you are mostly "on your own."

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)--The Piscean's unpretentious and unassuming demeanor will bring gains now. Push ahead in new ventures if you feel fit, but strive also in necessary but perhaps less interesting tasks.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with terrific enthusiasm, fine mental processes, foresight and, in some cases, that "sixth sense" that tells you when to move and when to stay put. You are a staunch friend, a loyal worker, a stimulating companion. Always incensed at injustice, you are a powerful champion, of the underdog. You make able statesmen, diplomats, artists, musicians, dramatists, critics and entertainers. Birthdate of: Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy; Edward R. Murrow, news commentator; Ella Fitzgerald, singer.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

CLUSTER HEADACHE
A Chicagoan writes: "My husband has severe pain over the left eye and temple. In 1962, the doctor diagnosed his problem as histamine headache. Please tell me the cause of and treatment for this disorder."

In the past, histamine was thought to be responsible for one type of headache closely related to migraine. Many physicians now refer to the condition as cluster headache because the distress occurs in 'clusters' from one to several times daily and may last weeks or months. For no apparent reason, pain subsides as suddenly as it began and the individual may remain free of discomfort for many weeks.

Most of the victims are men between 20 and 50 years of age. The attack comes on abruptly with intensive throbbing pain on one side of the head. It begins high in the nostril or behind the eye on the involved side and spreads to the forehead. The nostril becomes congested and the eye waters. Sweating occurs on the afflicted side of the face and the temporal vessels are prominent. The episode seldom lasts longer than two hours.

Histamine is suspect because it may be possible to initiate the headache by injecting a small amount intravenously. This substance, manufactured by the body, is capable of causing a marked dilatation of the blood vessels. In the past it was believed that sufferers of histamine headaches were overly sensitive to the chemical. The treatment was desensitization to histamine. It started with small doses gradually increased until the drug was tolerated. This helped in some instances, but not often enough to be practical.

Today cluster headaches are treated in the same way as migraine. Aspirin and rest relieve pain of low intensity. Ergotamine tartrate combined with caffeine also is useful. Methysergide is the best preventive, but it must be used cautiously because of side reactions. Lessening tensions at work and at home also helps.

TOMORROW: Silent Stones.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOILET TRAINING OF BABY
H. M. writes: My 19-month-old baby is not toilet trained. But as soon as he needs attention he tells me and even gets a clean diaper. Do you have any material on bowel and bladder control?

REPLY
Yes, our leaflet may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request. But since your son is so bright and cooperative, why send for it?

GALL BLADDER DRAINAGE
Mrs. G. writes: What is done in a gall bladder drainage operation?

REPLY
The sac is opened and contents drained without removing the gall bladder. This procedure seldom is done nowadays because we know that the gall bladder is infected and nothing is gained by removing the stones and leaving the diseased organ.

WYCKOFF'S ELECTION MAXIM:

It's Not The Platform; It's the Image

By RENE J. CAPPON
Associated Press Writer

THE IMAGE CANDIDATES, American Politics in the Age of Television, by Gene Wyckoff, Macmillan, $5.95.

The United States is heading into its fifth presidential campaign under the influence of television. All authorities agree that the medium has profoundly affected the political message.

Some say it heightens the political awareness of the electorate. Others contend that it contributes to its stultification. Pessimists will draw more substance from this account than optimists.

"The Image Candidates" is a book of remarkable candor. It is a mixture of expertise, delighting in its own bag of tricks, of astute and sometimes frightening analysis, and of political reflections that are often amusing but seldom reach the depth of larger insights.

The hard-shell realism of the professional image, pollster makes the book unusually interesting. Wyckoff has been around; he was TV aide to Nixon and Rockefeller and the producer of some effective political TV films. One of them, produced for the Henry Cabot Lodge vice presidential campaign in '60 helped the then-ambassador to Saigon win that famous absentee, write-in primary in New Hampshire four years later.

And by Wyckoff's report, a political film he produced might have won the crucial California primary in 1964 for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller over Barry Goldwater. That film was a slashing attack on California extremists. But, Wyckoff adds, the Rockefeller camp decided against using it, fearing divisive effects after the primary.

What is an "image candidate?" Wyckoff defines him as "a leading character" in the political drama presented by television before an election. His characterization tends to be universally perceived, regardless of the viewers' political predispositions, due to the viewers' media predisposition to see the candidates in terms of television's stereotyped desirable and undesirable characters.

Not mellifluous prose, perhaps, but worth pondering. If you look and act like Marshall Dillon, you're in. Wyckoff makes it quite explicit elsewhere that the image candidate's appeal is "sub-rational," and that a sharp focus on issues and political principles may be harmful rather than salutary. That's a long way from the interplay of political discourse the Founding Fathers had in mind, but it's the way the image men see it.

It's hardly startling that Wyckoff should consider Gov. Ronald Reagan of California the image candidate personified — and a presidential possibility for that reason alone. At the same time, and somewhat paradoxically, he places Reagan next to last as an image candidate who might run against President Johnson. He puts Nixon last.

Heading Wyckoff's list is Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, followed by Gov. George Romney of Michigan (whom his image potential didn't do much good) and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois. As for the President, he's one of the worst image candidates imaginable, in Wyckoff's view.

But even the politics of image candidates contains variables and experts can fight image with image; Wyckoff believes the lusterless Pat Brown could have defeated Reagan if the incumbent's TV imagery had been handled adroitly enough.

Most politicians have adapted to some degree, but few have done it completely, to Wyckoff's professional regret. He considers the intrusion of political thought into image campaigns as the folioes of staff intellectuals and an invitation to disaster at the polls.

So Nixon in 1960 (and doubtless again this year) kept thinking that it was important to get his views across to the voters, that what he was saying and arguing mattered. The image technician in Wyckoff, though, knows better; what mattered was the setting, the staging, the appearance — not the debating points.

Perhaps the best section in the book is a thorough analysis of the New York mayoralty election of '61 and the tangled primary preceding it. Here Wyckoff dissects the perform-

Wrightsville

Area News

Mrs. Gladys Fisher and Loretta of Wrightsville, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fisher and family of Bear Lake, were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher and family of Union City, Pa.

Mr. Richard Heber has moved his trailer up Stony Run. Mrs. Gladys Fisher received word that her son Lloyd Fisher of Spartansburg was burned while at work when a hot oil line broke.

Mrs. Gladys Fisher and Loretta were callers of Arlene Lyons at Sugar Grove on Friday.

Callers of Gladys and Loretta Fisher on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Elder and family, Esta Elder of Union City, Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher and family of North East, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lusiano and daughter of Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ransom and sons of Ashville, N.Y.; Mrs. Janet Pierce of Frewsburg, N.Y.; Mrs. Janet Eyer and daughter of Pittsburgh, Pa.

ance of New York's seven TV stations and (then) seven newspapers. In this discussion Wyckoff mentions a complaint that TV stations, in staging political panels, dictate the issues that can be raised. He finds the complaint unfounded (though he imputes bias to several stations and newspapers) and adds, significantly —

"Even a practitioner of image techniques who intentionally wished to influence the public would be neutral in his questioning, asking questions because he is unconcerned about the influence of the answers on the voting, that is he knows the rational substance of the answers may have little influence."

All this must be depressing for people who believe in reason and intelligence as the motive force for democracy. Wyckoff doesn't come to grips with these larger questions until the end of the book, where he does a little hand-wringing over the image candidate trend. He concedes the future looks bleak.

It looks even bleaker when, as his main remedy, he offers the suggestion that the "equal time" rule on television be relaxed to allow more face-to-face confrontations of major candidates. In view of all he has said on the subrational element of the image technique, it's hard to believe that this would do much good.

What of the newspapers in the era of image candidates?

In Wyckoff's view, they haven't entirely lost their influence in guiding voters. But it's only when the press opposes or supports an image candidate with virtual unanimity that it can overcome the TV imagery. (He supports this in his analysis of the New York mayoralty election.)

As Wyckoff puts it: "When the newspaper-stimulated image of a candidate differs sharply enough from the television image and is largely the truth and is generally reported by all the printed media, it may well prevail in the minds of television viewers."

Mr. and Mrs. John Pasternick of Pittsburgh have returned to their camp here for the summer. They spent several weeks last winter with their son in California.

Prayer meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber Thursday night.

Next Saturday the 27th the District Youth Rally will be held at the Decker EUB Church. This will be their play-off night for their contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber visited Leon Mitchell on Saturday night at the Rouse Home in Youngsville. Mr. Mitchell was brought from the Hamot Hospital on Thursday and is improving very satisfactorily.

Mrs. Charlotte Holcomb and Mrs. Ella Gages attended the meeting on the use of "blend-ers" held in Warren last week. With the beautiful spring weather we are having, many farmers have their oats planted and many have their gardens planted.

Mrs. Louis Eastman of Corry called on Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Lily Garber accompanied Mrs. Charlotte Holcomb to Corry Thursday where they visited Mr. Walter Keppel and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonnie Garber and five children and Mrs. Carl Garber were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Morelli at Warren R. D.

Mrs. John Wittig is recuperating from her bout with pneumonia and dropsy very satisfactorily. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Malcolm Wittig has been transferred to Riverdale, Ga. for a two year assignment. He works for Pratt and Whitney Co., and has moved his family there.

Sunday night callers of Mr.

and Mrs. Marshall Holcomb were Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCloskey of Tidoute. Mrs. Alice Ryckman was supper guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Elie Scott were supper guests of Mrs. Pearl Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fornoff at Oil City Wednesday. Sunday their grandchildren Kim, Jimmie, Chevy, and Debbie Scott spent the day.

Sanford Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Holcomb on Wednesday, May 1, afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Daugherty of Warren, Ohio spent the week end at their camp here. And Mrs. Ann Tranter Anstine of York, Pa., formerly of Warren, Ohio, spent a few days with Mrs. Hiram Gordon at her camp here.

Mrs. Betty Danielson was in Pittsburgh Thursday for a meeting of the WSWS.

Mrs. Ra Moranski came home from the Titusville Hospital Friday where she had undergone tests. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Moranski, Miss Kathy Steffens, and Larry Stulfebeam called on Mr. and Mrs. Ben Watson at Irvine. Mrs. Moranski has planned for a cook-out for the Girl Scout Cadets at her home on Monday evening.

Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Myers of Clarion, R. D. Mrs. Marshall was a business caller in Clarion on Wednesday, and Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Marshall called on Mr. and Mrs. Von Marshall and family at Tylersburg.

News Notes From Clarendon

By SARAH M. SMITH

The regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held in Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Emma Miller in charge of devotions and Mrs. Mary Campbell in charge of the program. The subject was Youth-Society's Untapped Resources, which proved to be very interesting. They closed with prayer and the song "In Times Like These," a short quiz from The Methodist Woman, followed. During the business meeting routine reports were heard and mite boxes opened. The Tiona ladies were invited and three were present. A social time followed with Mrs. Mildred Steele and Mrs. Margaret Knight acting as hostesses. The next meeting is scheduled for May 21st, at which time the leader will be Mrs. Grace McBride, and hostesses Mrs. Mary Campbell and Mrs. Martha Schneider.

Mrs. Madge Morrison, along with others from near-by towns, attended the Western Pennsylvania Conference of the Women's Society of Christian Service which was held in Pittsburgh last Thursday.

Allegany, New York.

Those interested are reminded that the Kane District Conference will be held in DuBois on May 9th.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. William J. Anderson and two daughters from Johnstown, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Trusso and children from Jamestown, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Anderson and children from Youngsville, and Mr. and Mrs. William Young and children from Russell.

Market Uncertain But Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP)—An uncertain stock market groped its way to a slightly higher level Wednesday, apparently lacking incentive to make a sharp move in either direction. Trading was active.

Volume was 14.81 million shares, compared with 14.1 million Tuesday. An assortment of large blocks helped boost turnover, even though the pace of trading was not very fast by current standards.

The continued absence of any agreement on the first step in Vietnam peace talks — selection of a site for them — put the brakes on the market and led to cross currents. The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a small gain of .98 at 898.46 after a day in

THE HARRIS SURVEY

The wholesale reshuffle of the 1968 Presidential contest has considerably altered the popular standings of all of the men who appear to be left in the running.

On the Democratic side: Sen. Robert Kennedy is now the frontrunner and leads both Vice President Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy among Democrats. Yet Kennedy's current total of 37 percent among the rank and file of his party is actually 2 points below the 39 percent recorded when he was pitted against President Johnson before the latter's withdrawal. What is more, a definite firming up of opposition to Kennedy appears to be taking place, particularly among older voters, those who live in the South and among the more affluent segment of the electorate.

Kennedy now is being judged on a much different basis. Prior to Mr. Johnson's withdrawal, the New York senator was viewed mainly as the man most likely to stop the incumbent President. Now people are thinking out loud about whether they really want a controversial man like Robert Kennedy as the man to occupy the White House.

Vice President Humphrey, with 24 percent, has yet to coalesce his full support, since up to the time of this survey many Americans were not sure he was going to make the run. Humphrey is the most likely recipient of the residue of Johnson support, particularly among older men and women who live in small towns. In his own right, the Minnesota has a reservoir of support from the Midwest among voters who still have enough suspicion of the Old Establishment left to distrust the rich and privileged with old-time populist fervor.

But now Humphrey is also receiving a new source of support from people who view him as the most likely man to stop Bobby Kennedy, much as Kennedy was viewed as the most likely to stop President Johnson. This fact accounts for a rise in Humphrey support in the South and among the higher-income and better-educated voters.

The sharpest movement upward since the Johnson withdrawal has taken place in support for Sen. McCarthy. Against both Mr. Johnson and Sen. Kennedy, he drew only a 13 percent backing among Democrats. Now he has risen to 22 percent, which still places him in third position, but much closer to his two opponents than before. McCarthy has almost doubled his backing from the college-educated and now leads both Kennedy and Humphrey in this group. He is also closing the margin Kennedy had on him among voters under 30.

McCarthy excites the affluent and the young, but has yet to communicate with the mass of Democrats. In many ways he is reminiscent of Adlai Stevenson, who proved in 1952 and in 1956 that it is possible to win the nomination of the Democratic Party without appealing to the masses of the party rank and file. But Stevenson also failed to deliver these groups in majorities sufficient enough to elect him over President Dwight Eisenhower. Nonetheless, McCarthy's unemotional style has made him the least controversial of the leading Democrats.

On the Republican side: Former Vice President Richard Nixon now appears to have a worse problem than ever in proving that he has shaken the "loser's image," a view held by 55 percent of the electorate. At the moment, Nixon is running behind all three leading Democratic contenders. His real problem is that at a time when the Democrats appear to be coming up with new faces, Nixon is cast by many voters in the role of belonging to two eras of the past; the Eisenhower and Kennedy years. President Johnson withdrew at just the moment when Richard Nixon showed some signs of catching the man in the White House. Now as voters become accustomed to the fact that a Johnson-Nixon-Wallace race is an improbability, there appears to be an inclination on the part of many to see the slate wiped clean and new figures nominated by both parties.

With Nixon's decline, it might have been expected that the stock of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would rise. Yet this has not yet happened. The main reason appears to be public uncertainty over whether Rockefeller really wants to join the fray.

Now that the New York governor is beginning to speak out on the issues and appears to be mobilizing a campaign organization, perhaps he will show some movement in the polls. But in two pairings since Mr. Johnson's withdrawal, Rockefeller has run a full 9 points behind Kennedy.

Major slippage for Rockefeller can be observed among young people, the affluent and Negroes. He has only picked up among voters over 50, a Kennedy weakness. With voters under 30 and Negroes, Rockefeller will be trying to penetrate normal areas of Kennedy strength.

But with the affluent, Rockefeller's falloff is in an area of Kennedy weakness. This means that the better-educated have decided to wait out the New York governor to see if he really wants the nomination badly enough and also to weigh his views as he states where he stands.

In this strangest of all political years, when it suddenly appears that four years of events are being telescoped into one, change is very much the order of the day. A candidate can gain as much support on the strength of public aversion to his opponent as on his own merits. The immediate testing period for Robert Kennedy and Nelson Rockefeller is upon us, while that for Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy is yet to come. Richard Nixon's lot, for the moment at least, seems to depend on what happens to everyone else.

ALL States shared in surplus property, with original value of $355 million, which was made available for education, public health, and civil defense by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in 1957. The number of households with an aged head counted poor in 1965 would have been two-thirds higher — 7.1 million instead of the 4.1 million who were poor — were it not for social security benefits.

Banker Rockefeller Urges Prompt Income Tax Hike

NEW YORK (AP) — Banker David Rockefeller said Wednesday the dollar crisis has been shoved far too low on the scale of national priorities, weakening the country's ability to deal effectively with problems considered more urgent.

He did not say explicitly what the higher priorities were but he made it plain he believed failure to deal with the skidding reputation of the dollar was eroding the nation's role as world leader.

"Confidence in the dollar is virtually synonymous with confidence in the ability of the United States to fulfill its role of leadership," said the president of Chase Manhattan Bank, the

DPI Pays $74,404 For Special Ed

HARRISBURG — A total of $74,404 in state funds has been paid through the State Department of Public Instruction to Warren County School Board for special education classes for handicapped pupils provided by the board in certain schools in the county in the second half of the current school term.

It was pointed out by the department that since county school boards do not receive money from local taxes state funds are provided for special classes operated by these boards.

In some schools classes conducted by the county school board constitute the only program for handicapped pupils. In other cases county board classes augment programs provided by the schools. In still other cases school districts provide a complete special education program for handicapped pupils without county board participation.

Part of the sum advanced to county school boards for this purpose is repaid to the state through deductions by the department from reimbursements to school districts for special programs they provide for handicapped pupils in addition to any such classes conducted in their schools by the county board.

County Physicians Attend State Meet in Harrisburg

HARRISBURG — Key physician officials of county medical societies in Pennsylvania will hear about the multitude of government programs in the health care field at a two-day conference opening at the Penn Harris Hotel today.

Area medical men who will be attending the conference include, Dr. Tom Gettings, Dr. Harold Reinhard, Dr. Ronald Simonsen, Dr. William Walters, Dr. William Anderson and Mr. Bruce Harding.

Tonight, the Pennsylvania Medical Society's highest awards to non-physicians—the Benjamin Rush Awards for outstanding voluntary service to the public—will be presented to a Delaware County couple and to a Chester County Lions Club.

The meeting, to keep physicians abreast of government programs affecting their patients and their practice, is the annual officers' conference of the Pennsylvania Medical Society. The 200 physicians expected to attend will hear presentations by representatives of every level of government and of the Congress and a labor union.

The meeting starts at 2:00 p.m. today and concludes tomorrow afternoon with an address by U.S. Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin. The conference is the second largest of the annual meetings held by the 12,000 member organization of medical doctors.

The Benjamin Rush Awards will be presented tonight by John F. Hartman Jr., M.D., of Erie, chairman of the medical society's council on public service. The individual award will go to a husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyson, of Chester, who have devoted every day of most of their lives to helping others. The organizational state Rush Award will go to the Avon-Grove Lions Club of West Grove which has raised and distributed more than $36,000 for the health and welfare of the people of its area.

The first session today deals with health programs in Pennsylvania and will feature Walter B. Lang, chairman of the Dauphin county commissioners; David J. Lieberman, M.D., of the state Dept. of Public Welfare; Bernard Greenberg, Pittsburgh, of the United Steelworkers; J. Everett McClennahan, M.D., immediate past president of the state society; and Maurice Kramer of the AMA's Washington Office. Panel moderator will be Charles A. Biele, M.D., of Chambersburg.

Tomorrow morning, meetings will deal with various federal programs. Participants will include James R. Kimmy Jr., M.D., of the U.S. Public Health nation's second largest.

He told 1,500 guests at the annual luncheon of the American Newspaper Publishers Association that there was no more urgent need than a tax increase that would halve a federal budget deficit he predicted would mushroom to $20 billion this year.

He coupled the call for a tax increase with another to slice government spending by "several billions more from low priority areas."

Rockefeller has been a long-time proponent of both the tax increase and the budget cut as means of strengthening the dollar.

"Recent events have called into serious question our ability to manage our currency and our finances," he told the publishers. "Unless we resolve that question promptly and convincingly, our other problems of world leadership and domestic unrest will surely be aggravated, perhaps beyond repair."

Then he painted a grim picture of what would happen if doubts abroad about American economic discipline crystallized into strong convictions:

"With no substitute readily at hand, merchants around the world would find trade impeded. Normal sources of finance for many business firms and even governments would tend to dry up. Central banks and treasuries would find that a part of their basic international reserves had suddenly become less useful. Some of them almost certainly would feel they had to protect their position through controls or exchange rate adjustments."

He said he was not satisfied the United States should carry so much of the burden of Europe's defense, that American export promotion programs or credit facilities were modern enough or that the U.S. government had done enough to attract foreign funds or improve the competitive position of American industry.

The measures he advocated, he said, would not provide an instant cure for inflation or the balance of payments but they would demonstrate that the country had the will and the capacity to "manage our affairs responsibly."

SERVICEMAN PROMOTED

Thomas Lindblade, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder, 204 Connecticut ave., Warren, currently serving aboard the USS Rockville, Norfolk, Va., was recently promoted to Boat-swain's Mate First Class Petty Officer in ceremonies conducted aboard the USS Rockville. Lindblade has completed two tours of duty in Vietnam and expects to enter the U.S. Navy training school to study nuclear disarmament.

Army Tries to Discourage Smoking or Use of Marijuana

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — Of the 342,000 U.S. Army soldiers in South Vietnam, only about 1,300 a year are found using or possessing marijuana, says a U.S. army personnel officer.

Col. Richard A. Edwards Jr., Alexandria, Va., deputy chief of staff of the U.S. Army in Vietnam, said marijuana smoking is currently the second most widespread offense among soldiers. Larceny is the most frequent.

The marijuana figures do not include personnel of the Marines, Navy or Air Force.

Marijuana is refined from the dried leaves and flowering tops of hemp. The plant grows profusely throughout Vietnam and is available to GIs through outlets ranging from bars and houses of prostitution to sidewalk magazine stands and pedicabs.

"It is very difficult, I would say impossible to cut off this supply," Edwards said, "but we are taking steps."

Foremost among these steps is a Marijuana Suppression Squad which the Army has formed in conjunction with South Vietnamese government authorities.

Members of the squad are chosen from military police ranks. Those selected have had experience and training in and out of the service in narcotics and marijuana work.

"We know that some opium den operators sell marijuana to troops—mostly to help maintain their own habits—but so far we have not discovered any organization," Edwards said.

Edwards said that basically the effects of marijuana smoking on a soldier were similar to drinking.

A lesson plan on marijuana prepared by the U.S. chaplain's office stated: "The marijuana user with his dulled reflexes, poor judgment and desire for excitement is a hazard to any combat unit. His unpredictable action can easily create a situation where a number of men could be killed or wounded."

On the other hand, Edwards said, to the extent that an individual's fears might be allayed by marijuana, he might feel more prone to engage in battle.

Although one of the major arguments against marijuana smoking is that it may lead to more serious drug habits, the Army finds only a handful of narcotics cases among troops in Vietnam.

"We had 12 cases in 1967 and just one so far this year—all of them some form of opium," he said.

Most cases were possession, either of the drug, opium pipe, or a needle.

Punishment for marijuana smoking or possession in the army is personal handling by a man's commanding officer or a general court-martial.

"The initial decision is made by the commanding officer," Edwards said. "If he feels this is a man's first offense, that he's generally a good soldier, and that he was just curious about the thing, he would probably handle the case under Article 15."

Under this article of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, Edwards explained, a commanding officer could designate a punishment, perhaps a reprimand, confinement to base for a given period, or forfeiture of pay.

If the case appeared more serious, the commanding officer would recommend a court-martial—summary, special or general.

Edwards said in 1967 four men were discharged on marijuana charges following court-martial and in 1968 one man had been discharged.

Edwards emphasized that this did not necessarily mean the men had received dishonorable discharges.

THANK YOU

(For helping us reach this milestone)

From a modest beginning on April 25, 1893, to one of America's largest banks . . . it's been a wonderful seventy-five years. And you, our customers, have helped make it possible. Now, Warren National looks to the future — to a new era in which we hope to grow and expand and become even more valuable to the communities we serve. We believe in Northwestern Pennsylvania and will continue to offer the most modern services and facilities for the benefit of every individual and business concern that needs assistance. We invite you to become acquainted with the Warren National Bank — an institution that is old in terms of experience but young and progressive in spirit.
